CORONER TO PROBE FIRE DEATHS

FEAR TROUBLE AT CHICAGO ELECTION ON TUESDAY

Nicaragua to Take Election Cue From Chicago—Rogers

(Special To The News)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 9—As a life member of the Red Cross we are rushing doctors and nurses to Chicago with all speed to have them there when the bombing starts Tuesday morning.

We are establishing first aid stations just about where we figure the voting booths will be blown to.

I am covering the Chicago election for the Nicaraguan press as we are putting on their election for them in October. They are anxious to learn what it will be like.

The roads away down here are packed with refugees leaving Chicago.

COLONEL ROGERS.

Aide to Governor Sampson of Kentucky, suh, should he ever need aide.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Official weather forecasts for Easter in New Castle didn't come near the mark. It would be difficult to describe New Castle's Easter weather, unless one would call it real old fashioned March. We had blizzards, cold raw winds, a little sunshine, and such a variety of weather that no one description would suit.

But despite the unfavorable weather, New Castle's church goers turned out in record numbers for the services of the day. Crowded churches in all sections of the city were the rule yesterday. It is probable that all records for recent years were broken for total attendance here.

Pa Newc has been watching daily for some sign of activity around the fire ruins of the First United Presbyterian church. The ruins still stand in almost the same condition as when the fire was checked over three months ago. Apparently the congregation hasn't decided upon action looking toward removal of the ruins.

Sunday auto traffic wasn't as great yesterday as during the preceding spring like Sundays. The uninviting weather conditions kept many at home, who otherwise would have joined the caravan of the day.

School sessions resume this morning for New Castle pupils, after a week's vacation. Steady school sessions from now until early in June is the program for New Castle pupils.

Despite the immense traffic on the streets of New Castle on Saturday night, it always seems that there is room for more. Thousands of autos poured into the downtown section of the city Saturday night and streets for many blocks in every direction were in use as parking space. The countryside for twenty-five to thirty miles around was represented in the great crowd of visitors in the city for the evening.

Another indication that things industrially are about back to normal in New Castle is to be seen in the lighting up of the sky on Sunday night as one approaches the city. The steel mill is again operating the Sunday night turn, as a result of the recent increase in operations.

New Castle had visions of a serious explosion somewhere on Saturday afternoon as a succession of explosions was heard. Investigation showed that one of the fireworks plants near the city was making an experiment with a new kind of fireworks. It would be a good idea for these manufacturers to notify New Castle police, or The News, when these experiments are to be made and allay fears that are caused when the source of the explosions is not known.

As a warning to the more superstitious of the friends of Pa Newc, the writer might mention that Friday of this week is "Black Friday"; or in other words, it is Friday, the thirteenth.

Work is in progress on construction of the third floor of the new George Washington Junior High school on Euclid avenue.

Those trusting souls who put on their light Easter clothes yesterday

Chicago Voters Prepare To Cast Ballots Tuesday

Rival Candidates In Heated Primary Battle Hurl Final Challenges

PRIMARY HARDEST FOUGHT IN YEARS

Governor Small Seeks Re-Election; State's Attorney Crowe Is Again In Field

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 9.—With tension near the breaking point, rival candidates in Chicago's bitterest of all election campaigns today hurled their final verbal bombs over the heads of a nerve-strained citizenry.

Tomorrow these same nervous citizens will smother their uneasiness under the consciousness of civic duty and march to the polls to select the candidates that will represent the two major parties in the November general elections.

Bitterness Evident

The bitterness that has made the current primary election a matter of world interest has centered solely within the Republican ranks. Their is practically no contest over the Democratic slate.

The warring Republican factions are headed by United States Senator Charles S. Dennen, L. L. Emmerson and Judge John A. Swanson on one side, and by Governor Len Small, Mayor William Hale Thompson and State's Attorney Crowe on the other.

The principal fight rages around the nomination for Governor and for State's Attorney of Cook county (Chicago). Senator Deneen and Mayor Thompson, field marshals for their respective forces, are not up for any office at this time, but their political fortunes depend on the success of their respective candidates.

Len Small, incumbent, is seeking the nomination to succeed himself as Governor. He is opposed by Louis L. Emmerson of the Deneen camp. Robert E. Crowe, who seeks to succeed himself as State's Attorney of Cook county, is opposed by Judge Swanson.

CRAWFORD COUNTY MAN IS KILLED, HIT BY MACHINE

(International News Service)

MEADVILLE, Pa., April 9.—Blinded by one of the heaviest snow storms of the year, Edmund Hornstein, 64, was struck and fatally injured here today by a car driven by Donald Essex of Sagerstown. He died an hour later after he had been removed to the Spenser hospital.

More than two inches of snow fell in this vicinity this morning and it was while the storm was at its height that Hornstein was struck while walking along the highway. An investigation was started by police.

File Answers In Will Case, Asserting Signature Of Mrs. Dean Genuine

In answers filed at the prothonotary's office today, heirs of the late Nellie M. Dean, widow of J. J. Dean deceased, deny allegations of Ida B. Dodson, and other petitioners, that the signature to the will of Mrs. Dean was not that of Mrs. Dean.

Those who are trying to break Mrs. Dean's will filed a petition a short time ago asking that the probate be revoked on the grounds that the will was not in the handwriting of Mrs. Dean and that the signature was not her signature.

In the answers filed today the heirs are equally certain that the handwriting and the signature were genuine. Up until noon today answers had been filed by Mary Tidball, Orvel Williams, Nellie Garber, Jane Ligo, Jessie Hamilton, Mabel Rockwell, First Christian church and Almira Home. There are several other answers which will be filed this afternoon, the rule having been made returnable today.

In the answers it is asked that the petition of those who are trying to break the will be dismissed. A hearing will be held at a date to be announced later.

BUNION DERBY FIELD NOW NUMBERS BUT 82

More Of Coast-To-Coast Marathoners Are Dropping Out Along Way

Earl Dilks Of New Castle Keeps Up Grind; Has Some Foot Trouble

By LELAND C. LEWIS
International News Service Special Correspondent

SAYRE, Okla., April 9.—Four states conquered and now the fifth, was the word passed on by C. C. Pyle's bunion derbyists as they pushed on today. Since the heel and toe caravan started from Los Angeles on March 4, with a field of 199, this number has diminished to 82.

Men have dropped from the grind for a variety of ailments, chief among which were blisters, infected feet, "shin splints," temperament and nervous break downs.

Leader Drops Out

Arne Suominen, Detroit naprapath, who took up the leadership when it was relinquished by Arthur Newton, was forced out yesterday with a similar ailment, a pulled tendon of Achilles. Suominen led the field with an elapsed time of 215:32:42 for the 1,268 miles to McLean, Texas.

Yesterday the heel cord gave way. The Detroiter hailed a patrol car and was brought into Texola for treatment. Returned to the road Suominen tried to carry on, but found that his leg had ceased to function. So he quit the grind.

Dilks Carries On

Andrew Payne, youthful Oklahoman who, has pressed Suominen during recent days, immediately sensed his opportunity and crossed into Oklahoma leading the parade.

Earl Dilks of New Castle, Penna., checked in last night in 12:15:30, giving him an elapsed time from Los Angeles of 317:10:19. Dilks encountered some foot trouble, but it is not believed to be serious.

Former Sharon Man Is Killed

Shot By Fugitive Negro Purse Snatcher At Columbus, O.

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—Police and detectives today were searching for a negro robber who killed Charles H. Dixon, 56, traveling salesman, at his home here Saturday night.

The negro had snatched a purse from Mrs. Alvira Allen, 24, as she was walking in the street. Mrs. Allen screamed and the thief fled through a residence lot. Dixon had just stepped out on his back porch and the negro evidently gained the impression that he would attempt to intercept his flight. The fugitive fired one shot, the bullet striking Dixon in the right eye. He died enroute to a hospital.

Dixon was employed by the F. F. Webster Company, of Boston, and formerly lived in Sharon, Pa.

Sinclair Stands Trial Today For Oil Conspiracy

Millionaire Oil Man At Bar Of Justice For Part In Teapot Dome Scandals

JURY SELECTION WILL BE TEDIOUS

Defense Will Stake All On Two Important Points; May Lock Jury Up

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 9. — What promises to be the most sensational of the many trials arising from the oil scandals of the Harding Administration gets under way here today when Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man and sportsman, faces the bar of justice charged with criminally conspiring to defraud the nation of the Teapot Dome Naval Oil Reserve.

Former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall is too ill to appear with his co-defendant, and the trial will be a separate one.

The defense will stake its all on two points—a contention that the naval reserves had to be leased or otherwise they would be drained by independent wells drilled close along the borderlines, and a revival of the "Japanese War Scare" that was used so effectively in the acquittal on similar charges of E. L. Doheny, who leased the Elk Hills Reserve. Doheny's lawyers produced sketchy testimony resigned to show that at the time Fall leased the oil lands the Navy General Board feared an attack from Japan and urgently demanded fuel oil for America's warships.

Start Jury Selection

Today's legal battle will open with selection of a jury—no easy task at best. Because of the mistrial the last time Sinclair was brought into court, it is almost certain that Justice Jennings Bailey will order the jury locked up for duration of the

Youth Is Killed, Four Injured As Machine Plunges

Auto Plunge Near Bridgeville Fatal To Canonsburg Youth

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 9 — Frank McTee, 21, was killed and four companions, all of Canonsburg, were injured, one seriously, when the automobile in which they were riding plunged over a 25-foot embankment on the Washington pike near Bridgeville, today. McTee was pinned beneath the overturned car. He was said to have been driving.

Gilbert Saint, 21, was said to be the most seriously injured of the other four. He is suffering from loss of blood caused by a deep laceration in the leg. Oscar McPeake, 24, Morgan Enlow, 23, and William McShane, 22, were slightly injured.

Four Known Dead, Large Section Of Canada Flooded

Death Toll From Flood Waters In Province Of Quebec Placed At Four

CONDITIONS ARE REPORTED SERIOUS

Entire Counties Are Threatened With Inundation; Power Plant Crippled

(International News Service)

MONTREAL, Que., April 9.—The death toll from floods in the province of Quebec over the week-end stood at four today. Many sections of the province are threatened with inundation.

Two young men were killed when floods carried out an old wooden covered bridge over the Chaudiere river near Saint Lambert as they were driving across it. The dead are Phillipe Roy, 19, and William Moring, 20.

Train Goes Through Bridge

At Drummondville a Canadian National passenger train crashed through a bridge, the supports of which had been weakened by the pressure of spring freshets. Two railroad employees were carried into the river and their bodies were not recovered.

Conditions are reported serious in many parts of the province and all rivers are greatly swollen as a result of the sudden warm spell which carried the winter's ice out too quickly.

Flood conditions prevail throughout the Chaudiere river section of the province and the counties of Beauce and Levis are threatened with inundation.

The power plant of the Quebec Power Company at Saint Romuald has been flooded out of commission.

New England In Path

ST. JOHNSBURG, Vt., April 9.—Another flood peril stalked over Northern Vermont and sections of upper New Hampshire today, although the sudden shift to cold weather brought some relief.

The connecticut river was reported at record height in Gilman and Lunenberg. The boom dam at Gilman went out with a roar and the rushing water swept two automobiles along the Lunenberg highway. On the Capture Of Chicago Gang Breaks Up Gigantic Plot To Kidnap Wealthy Man

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 9.—A gigantic plot to kidnap a score of wealthy Chicagoans and hold them for ransoms totalling $1,000,000, today was declared "nipped in the bud" with the round-up of the gang who kidnaped Thomas Gaynor, wealthy Chicago automobile dealer and hotel owner.

Gaynor, who was rescued Saturday by police in a cottage near Crystal Lake, was the first on the kidnapers' list of intended victims, according to investigators.

Seven men are under arrest for the kidnaping of Gaynor. An eighth is being sought. Two of the men, James O'Brien and Frank Carlson, were captured at the cottage as they stood guard over their wealthy victim.

Chicago detectives, led by Lieut. William Cusack, effected the rescue of Gaynor and the capture of his kidnapers. Five other men, alleged members of the gang, were rounded up in Chicago. Among them is William H. "Big Bill" Lewis, West Side gambler and lifelong friend of Gaynor.

Positive evidence of the plot to kidnap other wealthy Chicagoans was obtained by police, who grilled the seven men under arrest. This evidence consisted of notebooks containing lists of intended victims, with notations of probable ransems for each.

Confronted with the evidence, three of the prisoners admitted the wholesale kidnaping plot, according to Deputy Police Commissioner William E. O'Connor.

Riley Injured As Pole Falls

Assistant City Electrician Victim Of Accident At Mercer Street Corner

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL; CONDITION SERIOUS

William Riley, assistant city electrician, is in the New Castle hospital, in an apparently seriously injured condition, as a result of an accident occuring at Washington and Mercer streets shortly before noon today, when a curb light post, which members of the city electrical department were in the act of putting in position, fell on him.

Mr. Riley and Al Shoaff were on the electrical department truck, and the lower end of the post was resting on its location at the curb, the top resting on the truck, when in some manner, the post slipped. Mr. Riley was precipitated to the ground and the pole fell on top of him, striking him on the left hip.

He was immediately removed to the Rain Checks Forest Fires

Forest Fires Throughout State Checked By Heavy Rainfall

NO NEW FIRES ARE REPORTED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 9.—Week-end rains have temporarily relieved the danger of forest fires in various sections of the state, the Department of Forests and Waters announced today. There were no reports of fires received by the department yesterday.

The sudden rainstorms and the subsequent cooler weather were said to have brought about a comparatively safe condition in the wooded sections. It was reported to the department that several wood fires in the mountainous district of Westmoreland county were extinguished by a snowstorm.

The department said that fires near Reading, Pottsville, Bloomsburg and Wilkes-Barre had also been extinguished by the heavy rains. The blaze near Reading got beyond control of fire-fighters for some time late Saturday and destroyed the country home of the late George F. Baer, once president of the Reading railway. About 3,000 acres were burned over in the Hemlock Creek region, near Wilkes-Barre, while the other fires were reported as small.

Chicago Suburb Is Terrified By Bomb

Two-Story Brick Building At Melrose Park Shaken By Blast Today

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 9—A powerful black-powder bomb was exploded today in the rear of a two-story brick building in Melrose Park, a suburb. Residents for blocks in all directions were terrified by the blast.

The bombed building was only three blocks from the Melrose Park police station. Officers reached the scene within five minutes of the blast. Later three men were arrested charged with the bombing. A fourth man is being sought. Police threw a veil of secrecy about the blast. They refused to divulge the names of their prisoners or to say whether or not they believe the blast was of political significance.

Bunkhouse Fire And Two Fatalities Will Be Probed

Two Men Are Held For Inquest Tonight; Said To Know Of Case

MEN ARE REPORTED BEING AT SCENE

Both Disclaim Any Knowledge As To Fire And Death Of Victims

Double funeral of Charles Johns and his son, George Johns, victims of a mysterious fire in a coal mine bunkhouse in Wayne township Friday night, was held from the family residence in Princeton yesterday. Owing to the tragic manner of the men's death and the esteem in which they were held in the neighborhood, the funeral was largely attended.

An inquest is to be held by Coroner J. P. Caldwell at the city building in Ellwood City this evening at 7:30. James Hilton and George Mayberry of this city are being held in the county jail as witnesses. They were brought in yesterday by County Detective William Fleming and Sheriff H. M. Reynolds, who had been searching for them ever since the tragedy.

Stories Conflict

Persons who were at the fire said that Hilton and Mayberry had left Friday night immediately after the bodies of the two Johns men were taken from the ruins. It was supposed that they were coming home, but investigation by Detective Fleming and Sheriff Reynolds showed that they had not. On Sunday evening they were found Hilton at home and Mayberry at the home of a relative.

Interrogated by officials at the courthouse this morning, they told

Easter Is Observed In Fitting Manner

Churches Of New Castle Crowded For Especial Easter Day Programs And Music

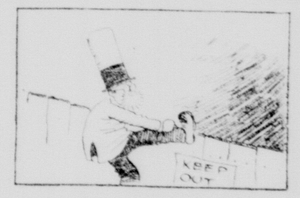

Easter Sunday was observed in a most fitting manner in New Castle churches.

In every church in the district, especial programs were carried out, being largely in the nature of communion services and reception of new members at the morning services, and cantatas or especial Easter musical programs in the evening.

Attendance at the services of the day was most gratifying to the church leaders. Regardless of weather conditions that were not inviting, many of the churches were crowded to the limit.

Inspirational addresses and music rounded out the church programs in the services in a way that made a memorable and most inspiring day.

Arthur Mometer

Take a handful of words and a comma or two, some bars of music you may have heard, drape them around your typewriter desk, and keep the ingredients properly stirred. Some thoughts of love and the stars above, a sigh or two and the skies of blue, a line that breathes of an endless flame, or anything else will be just the same. Just mix them up, put in jazz lines strong and there my friends is a popular song. It doesn't take much yet it takes a lot, the lines must be weird and the music hot, the time must be broken, the rhythm old, and throw in some blue notes, quite a wad. Then you have your song, all set to play. The weather's chilly, thirty-seven today.

Revivals End At Wilmington

Dr. S. K. Peacock Concludes Series Of Three Weeks Meetings

CLOSING SERVICE MOST INSPIRING

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, April 9.—Dr. L. K. Peacock, evangelist in charge of the meetings which came to a successful close here Sunday night, was visibly affected by the sight of the 150 or more people who crowded up to the altar and shook his hand, thereby signifying their profession of faith, or rededication of their lives to God. It was a very inspiring sight.

The meetings have been in progress for three weeks, the first week in the M. E. church, the second in the Presbyterian church, and the last week in the United Presbyterian church.

Dr. Peacock preached plain gospel sermons, not failing to censure where censure seemed necessary, and praising where he thought praise belonged. The invitation to lead the better life has been extended during the whole of the last week and it is estimated that 600 people went forward.

The music throughout, under the leadership of Director Alvan Davis, of the conservatory of music, with the chorus choir taken from all the churches, was very fine, and a big feature of the meetings.

The free will offering taken at the three services on Sunday amounted to $700.

Dr. Peacock was for a number of years a resident of New Wilmington, and a graduate of Westminster college.

GOOD LAWS AND BAD LAWS

A legislator should be judged by his efforts to suppress bad laws and to prevent "tinkering" with laws, as well as by the number of bills he proposes and the number of such bills which he causes to be passed. Too many bills without merit, some of which are prompted by selfishness, are proposed and in some instances made into law. A representative in the general assembly can render invaluable service to his constituents by preventing the passage of or opposing poor bills while the mere fact that he has proposed and caused the passage of certain bills may actually mean nothing to his constituents.

morning before first going out doors, were rudely shocked on their way to church. And the Easter parade became more like a Christmas parade. Fur coats replaced spring coats and winter hats were again gotten out of the moth balls. A cold sun alternated with flurries of snow.

Another contingent of traveling men was stranded in New Castle over Easter. Away from their homes and friends, they present the most glum appearance as they stride up and down the lobbies of the hotels. Sometimes they buy a Sunday paper or an arm full of magazines and go into the lounge, where they try to forget themselves and at the same time indulge in a little vicarious sport. Or they stand at the desk, longing for human companionship, passing remarks with the room clerk. It is one day in the year that Pa Newc does not envy them.

Today begins the annual Y. M. C. A. drive for new memberships and renewals of old memberships. There is scarcely a more worth while organization in the United States than the Young Mens Christian Association. Its platform is three fold: it seeks to develop Spirit, Body and Mind. During the war it rendered a signal service to the country, and in times of peace it does work that is just as noble, only it goes about it in a more quiet way.

And today also marks the opening of the National Boy Scout Council at San Francisco, California. Ceremonies all over the country will be observed this afternoon. The Lawrence County Council plans to have one of the scouts present a manuel to one of the city officials at the time that the session convenes.

Work on the Harlansburg road airport is progressing rapidly, says Herbert Peairs, a member of the airport committee of the local Chamber of Commerce, and all will be in readiness when Clarence D. Chamberlin arrives to give his lectures Thursday of this week. Incidentally, he will be the one officially to open the airport. But, while he is here, Pa Newc believes it would be a good idea to have the world famous aviator also officiate at the christening of the port. But first it must have a name.

What name would you suggest? Write to Pa Newc about it.

stories that conflicted somewhat with stories of persons who were at the fire.

Mayberry was first interrogated. He said that he and Hilton had occupied one-half of the bunkhouse. On Friday morning they could not work on account of an accident to a car. They went into Ellwood City, where they received their pay from Connie Wardman, operator of the mine. They then remained about the city during the day. Part of the money was spent for liquor. About four o'clock in the afternoon they started for their bunkhouse. Mayberry says that they had about one gallon of liquor with them and that when they got to the bunkhouse they shared it with others.

Mayberry admitted that they were both under the influence of liquor, but were able to walk and knew what they were doing. Among those who were in their part of the bunkhouse during the evening were Charles Johns and his two sons, George and Clarence. The latter left early in the evening.

Mayberry said that about eight o'clock he left the bunkhouse to go back to Ellwood City. At the time he left he said that Hilton was lying on a bunk and Charles Johns was sitting beside him talking. When he returned about 10:30 Mayberry said that the bunkhouse was in flames and nearly burned down. He did not see anything of Hilton for a little while, but finally found him. He said that they had waited about the scene of the fire until the two charred bodies were removed.

Go To Ellwood City

They then started away, going in the direction of Ellwood City. Some man picked them up and gave them a ride part way. They then went to Wurtemburg, where they spent the night at the home of a sister of Mayberry's. Saturday morning they went to Kopple and Homewood. They stayed Saturday night at the home of a sister of Hilton's in Kopple.

Mayberry said that he had questioned Hilton as to how the fire had started, but could get nothing out of him. He claimed that he was drunk and did not know anything about it.

Hilton when questioned by the officials, claimed to have no knowledge of how the fire started. He admitted that he had been talking with Johns earlier in the evening.

On the night of the fire Carl Lattimer, who had been to Ellwood City was putting his car in the garage when he saw the bunkhouse in a blaze. He started toward it and when about 100 yards away met Hilton coming away from the fire. He was wearing an overcoat and carrying a large bundle.

When Latimer asked Hilton to go back to the fire Hilton is alleged to have said that there was nobody in the bunkhouse and no use in going back, as it was too nearly burned to save.

This morning when Hilton was asked if he had been carrying anything when he was met by Latimer he said that he was not and that he did not remember meeting Latimer.

The bundle which he had been carrying was then brought into the grand jury room where the inquiry was in progress. It was a large overcoat belonging to Mayberry. Asked if he had not been carrying that bundle he claimed that he could not remember anything about it.

He was unable, or unwilling, to tell how he got out of the bunkhouse or whether or not it was on fire when he left. He said he did not know that Johns and his son were in the bunkhouse. He further stated that there had been no fire in it. Practically no further information could be secured from him except that they had had a gallon of liquor. He said that he was pretty drunk and blamed his condition for not being able to remember anything.

It is alleged that a peculiar conversation between Mayberry and Hilton was overheard during or after the fire, and it is likely that this will be brought out at the inquiry this evening.

So far as Mayberry is concerned his story of where he was when the fire started appears to be borne out by a statement of a taxi driver who saw him in Ellwood City. Mayberry and Hilton will be taken to the inquest at Ellwood City this evening to tell their stories.

Officials are at a loss to account for Hilton's inability to tell anything about how the fire started when he was met coming away from it carrying the bundle.

trial. Most of the veniremen are aware of this, and there is little disposition to admit the qualification to serve. Most of them are expected to announce they have formed advance opinions in the case.

The opening clash will come over the question of jury selection. The present practice in the District of Columbia Supreme Court is to have members of the jury panel questioned solely by the presiding justice. Opposing counsel may only suggest to the court the questions they would like to have put. George Hoover and Martin W. Littleton, of Sinclair counsel, plan to challenge this method of procedure on the ground it prevents the defense from intelligently exercising its peremptory challenges. Government counsel on the other hand, will uphold the procedure as conducive to a speedier trial.

CIVIC GROWTH AND DECAY

DETROIT, one of the most progressive and rapid-growing communities in the United States, has postponed a vote on a subway plan because it is doubtful whether the plan can be carried. There are other big improvements held up in the same way.

The explanation is the interesting thing. The progressive people of the community now live mostly in the suburbs and have no vote in the city proper. They still lead the general community life, and are mainly responsible for the general prosperity, but they have no direct voice in doing things for the big, central area on which the general prosperity depends.

This is exactly what is happening in many other communities. It is one of the penalties of civic progress. A city prospers, then its most valuable classes move out into the suburbs and lose their control.

There is an obvious remedy for such a situation. That is, to annex the suburbs or establish a borough system of government, giving the outsiders political rights in the mother-city. But that usually meets with strenuous objections on the part of suburban office-holders who want to keep their jobs, property-owners afraid of higher taxes and virtuous citizens afraid of contamination.

DEATH OF AN OPTIMIST

CHAUNCEY DEPEW was never an idol of the people and his claim to immortality is uncertain, but he is already missed and will continue to be missed far into the future.

For a man who was never president, who never organized an independent movement in politics, who never created any great work of art or drew a movie salary and who did not live to be a hundred, he was unusually famous. He was frequently before the public eye but always for some respectable and becoming reason.

Few Americans have been better qualified than he for public service of the highest order and none has declined as many honors bestowed by the people. Among the public offices he rejected were secretary of war, United States senator and United States minister to Japan. Before he was 30 he had served in the New York legislature and as secretary of state in New York. Further evidence of his power in politics is found in the ninety-nine votes given him for the presidential nomination in the Republican national convention of 1888. Five times he was a delegate-at-large to national conventions and the honor was his to nominate Harrison for the presidency.

This generation knew him as the nation's greatest after-dinner speaker, but to another generation he was a great enough orator to be the principal speaker at the unveiling of the Statue of Liberty, at the centennial celebration of the first inauguration of George Washington, and at the opening of the Chicago World's Fair.

On April 23, which would be his ninety-fourth birthday anniversary, newspaper readers will miss the little interview—a birthday anniversary custom of his—on his philosophy of life, his good opinions of the younger generation and kindred subjects of wide human interest. Life to him was ever good and interesting and he had a way of making others see it through his rose-colored glasses.

DECENCY HAS PAID

A YEAR ago, as newspaper readers with unusually long memories will recall, European and American jingoes were demanding armed intervention in China. And they came very near getting it. Warships from all the powers except Japan were rushed to the Chinese coast, and up Chinese rivers, when the "Nanking outrages" were perpetrated. There was loud talk of punishment and forced reparation.

But the American public stubbornly insisted on remaining calm, and our government, after thinking it over, refused to join the European powers in punitive measures, contenting itself with moderate defensive measures. So Europe itself "laid off," awaiting developments.

Slowly China quieted down. The great uprising against the whites failed to develop. It turned out that the racial hostility of the Chinese, and the outrages themselves, had been greatly exaggerated by trouble-makers-for-profit.

Now the Nationalist government, chief authority in China, has apologized for Nanking and promised satisfactory reparations, as a result of inquiries by a joint Chinese-American commission.

Meanwhile the Nationalists, who though far from perfect seem to be the best hope of China, have expelled Russian propagandists, suppressed Bolshevist tendencies in their ranks, reorganized their civil and military forces and grown stronger.

So the Chinese situation looks far more hopeful because Uncle Sam sat on the jingoes, remained calm and handled a crisis with fairness and decency.

SNAPPY COMEBACK

A chorus girl, deliciously pretty but decidedly lowbrow, somehow found herself at a very select party given by a famous society woman.

The girl, lonely and uncomfortable, as a fish out of water, was leaning against the wall, framed against the dark oak, when the hostess took pity on her.

"My dear," she said, kindly, "you look just like an old Rembrandt."

"Well," retorted the damsel, sharply, "you don't look too darned snappy yourself."

We are anxious to see what a jury will do in the case of the woman lion huntner in New York who shot her husband. Gosh! Folks may think them out uv date,
But still I liked my good old slate.

What curyus tales it could relate
Ef it sh'd speak, thet old school slate!

Mistakes were washed orf, right things stood
'Til teacher hed pernounced 'em good;

Was writ er figgered there before.
Say, Bill, I sometimes wished thet we
C'd wash things orf what shouldn't be:
They'd bin some scrubbin' up tew date
Uv pencil marks on our old slate!

One-inch cubes of butter as standard portions in hotels and restaurants are advocated as a farm relief measure by B. F. Sherman, a Wisconsin dairyman. The average service of butter is one-third ounce, he cites. Serving inch cubes would add one-fourth ounce per portion, an increase of 35,000,000 pounds annually for the country, Sheridan estimates.

A Chicago judge threw a woman's case out of court because she just stood and talked a blue streak while the case was on and would not stop when she was told to do so by the court and all the tipstaves. SPINNING OF EARTH WILL STOP, HIT MOON

The time will come when the earth will stop spinning and the moon will crash down on it, said Sir Oliver Lodge, noted British scientist and spiritualist, in a recent lecture on "The Birth of the Moon".

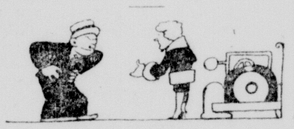

"It will be millions and billions of years hence," he continued, "the speed at which the earth rotates is gradually slowing down owing to the friction of the tides. You need not be nervous. Each day is only a 240-millionth part of a second longer than the day before.

"There was a time when the earth spun so fast that the day was only four hours long. At that time the moon was part of the earth, but it broke away and has moved slowly farther away ever since. In time the earth's rotation will cease, and the process will be reversed."

TODAY'S STORYETTE

They tell the story of a famous actor who often was accustomed to show a great interest in the lesser lights about him. One day he was good-naturedly conversing with one of his stage hands. "And what, my good man, is your vocation?" queried the condescending matinee idol.

"I'm a Baptist," came the unexpected reply.

"No, no, good fellow, that is your belief. I want to know your vocation. For example, I am an actor."

Said the scene-shifter: "Naw, that's your belief."

A Rubber Crisis.
Noble Typewriter.
Longing for Solitude.
The Whipping Post.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Agitation in the rubber business. One great rubber company, although it has plenty of money, passes its preferred stock dividend waiting to see what will turn up. The British abandon the attempt to monopolize rubber and prices will drop.

The rubber companies might find a way to distribute tires more cheaply. If it cost as much proportionately to sell automobiles as it does to sell tires, a $700 car would cost $1,500.

General Motors, willing to try anything and usually succeeding may turn up as an automobile tire manufacturer.

Mercedes Gleitz swam the Strait of Gibraltar on Wednesday, from Spain to Africa, 27 miles. The lady is a typewriter—and that's the interesting part. You marvel that a woman leading a sedentary life should be so athletic. Typewriting develops nervous energy. And dealing with dull or ill-tempered employers develops mental determination. That explains it.

Many old people long to retire from the world and escape observation.

Tolstoy, toward the last wandered away from his family, to be alone.

James Swinnerton has painted an old Indian on the Western desert, retiring into a cave as he felt death coming, with just strength enough left to block the mouth with a stone, and keeping out coyotes, wishing to die alone.

In Vermont and old woman dies, having lived a recluse more than 30 years.

A strange desire. The grave promises solitude sufficiently complete to suit anybody. And it will come.

Judge Buffington, of the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals, recommends the whipping post for criminals. The whip frightens the criminals, usually physical cowards, and a lashing would cause a gang leader to lose caste with his class, as Judge Kavanaugh of Chicago, says.

The important question is: would the whipping, encouraging and setting an example of brutality, breed more crime?

If the whipping post comes into general use, it should be a mechanical whipping post, delivering blows of definite, legally established strength. Under our grafting system, a small fee would make the beating mild failure to pay would be well punished.

In the "Judgment of God" trials in the Middle Ages there was much cheating. An influential bishop, for instance, was sentenced to prove his innocence and morality by walking barefoot on red hot ploughshares. The ploughshares were painted red, not heated. That cleared the bishop, nobly vindicated.

The talented Russians have some queer ideas, including ideas of humor. The story about an Armenian shooting Trotzky was an April Fool joke.

The learned writer of "The Golden Bough" tells of Russian peasants in the spring time seizing their priest, rolling him over and over in the mud across newly planted fields to increase the crops, and saying to the patient preacher of the Greek church, "Don't object, little father, you live on our crops, so help us to make them better."

A bad little boy told his mother, "I didn't pray last night or the night before. I am not going to pray tonight. Then if nothing happens I am not going to pray any more."

The Wall Street enthusiasts didn't sell last month, or the month before, they are not going to sell now and if nothing happens they are NEVER GOING TO SELL. That's how they feel.

Britain plans gigantic bombing planes, each with gun turrets on the wings, one to each wing tip, one in the center.

Gunners in the flying turrets would have no "blind spots," perfect vision in all directions. Their quick-firing guns would fight off a swifter pursuit planes attacking, while they dropped bombs on the cities below.

Fortunately these planes are not planned to attack us. We are about as well prepared to receive them as a rabbit in an open field to receive half a dozen eagles.

Gov. Smith vetoes a bill that would prevent development of important water power and does it wisely. Nature lovers say the scenery around the proposed hydro-electric development is beautiful, and they don't want it disturbed.

Mrs. Medill McCormick is a candidate for congressman- at-large in Illinois. Citizens will take satisfaction in voting for her and she will represent the state ably, inheriting ability from her father, Mark Hanna.

THE GREATEST BUSINESS

The greatest business in the world anywhere and at any time is the business of educating and training the young.

Just as the household centers about its children in all its hopes and plans, just as for them the father works and the mother sacrifices, so in the case of a nation everything should turn about the improvement of its young people.

On them and on their fitness rests the future safety of the nation more than on any plans or schemes of institutions which their fathers may set in motion.

Always the character of a people has more to do with the success of a nation than the institutions or customs it may have, or the defense which it may possess.

A recent press statement was to the effect that two hundred and fifty American cities having over 30,000 population each, spent on public schools in 1926, $607,000,000, or one-third of their income. That sounds like a good deal of money, but it is only $6.30 per capita in big cities, which is less than we spend on chewing gum.

What we spend money for is the best sign of what we desire most.

A Britisher the other day gave five hundred thousand pounds to his government to be applied toward the English debt. This was an unparalleled act of patriotism. Men will give their lives for their country, while few are willing to give money.

So we orate and write and grow enthusiastic over our public schools. But the test of our appreciation of them comes best by spending money on them.

The school teacher should be better paid and he should rank higher in the community than he does.

The superintendent of public schools should be the best paid official in the city and the most carefully selected. And he needs to be a person of more outstanding ability than the mayor.

The school buildings should be, and in some places are, the most remarkable pieces of architecture in a community.

Every city should have plenty of playgrounds for children.

To the credit of America it is that it has more juvenile publications and printed matter, especially for the reading of children, than has any other country.

Every man and woman ought to be in some way connected with assisting the younger generation to make good.

School teaching or the training of the young is far and away the most important business of the country.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE SPELLING BOOK.

Back in the days when the so-called Rugby Football Game was new to Americans and the Colleges having teams in the field were not over particular regarding the scholastic abilities of the players, a powerfully built and sturdy son of a blacksmith presented himself as a candidate for the Team of a certain University and incidentally as one who sought learning and a Bachelor's Degree. He was asked what he had studied in preparation for admission to the Freshman Class of this particular Institution of High Education.

"Oh, I know 'George Graphy,' 'Dick Shinery' and something about 'Zebra'" was the ready answer, "and I have learned to tackle low and keep my eye on the ball," he added. The College needed husky players who could "tackle low" and "keep their eye on the ball" and he was admitted.

Speaking of "Dick Shinery," Noah Webster, the American dictionary maker, was the first citizen of the United States to benefit by the copyright laws. Webster published "A Grammatical Institute of the English Language." He described it as "an elementary book for facilitating the acquisition of our vernacular tongue and for correcting a vicious pronunciation which prevailed among the common people." The first part was known as "Webster's Spelling Book." It is still in print, and more than 60,000,000 copies have been sold. Shortly after the publication of this book, Webster made a tour of the Southern States in the interests of the copyright law. The federal copyright law was passed in 1790. It was especially appropriate that the first author to take advantage of this law should have been one who labored to promote it.

Alas and A-lack-a-day, the blacksmith's son did not last long. He soon passed out of the academic picture.

I HAVE NOTICED—

That no man thinks he is rich until he has just a little bit more.
That no woman enjoys being told how clever some other woman is.
That the man who is complaining is usually doing less work.
That the woman who is most womanly usually gets more of a woman's rights.
That most men work better as a result of appreciation.
That most women appreciate habitual courtesy more than occasional flattery.
That the number of lodge pins a man wears is no indication of his importance.

Prayer for the Day.

Grant us, O Lord, the strength today
For every task which we shall face.
Teach us the kindlier word to say
Which lifts us from the commonplace.
And let us in some little way
With thoughtfulness our journey grace.

Though every day with care is rife
And each must go where duty leads
Throughout the tumult and the strife
The constant press of earthly needs
Teach us to use the gift of life
For something more than selfish deeds.

Strengthen our faith against despair
Renew our will to play the friend.
Increase our love of what is fair
Let graciousness our speech attend
Help us to play the man and bear
Our burdens till this day shall end.

GIVING AND GETTING

A. A. Hyde recently celebrated his 80th birthday. Maybe you do not know A. A. Hyde. That must of necessity be a deprivation that most of my readers are subject to. So I am going to tell you something about him.

When I was a small boy A. A. Hyde then already a man in middle life was making soap out of a root that grows in the dry southwestern plains called yucca. He at first sold the soap himself under a gas flare on street corners in Wichita, Kansas. Then sold it through peddlers, who went about the countryside in small covered wagons, calling at farmhouses and offering various remedies and medicaments, along with gingham by the yard and tinware by the quart.

But this man Hyde was beginning to manufacture an ointment that was highly recommended to relieve the inflammation caused by chiggers. In the hot, dry climates of southwestern United States there are millions of little red parasites called chiggers that cling to the leaves of grass, waiting for human victims. They are not specially poisonous, but they are so irritating as to cause almost frantic itching where they burrow their way under the skin. Hyde mixed up this and that and put a little menthol in it, and sold it to chigger-bite sufferers—and that includes everybody who hasn't an iron skin and ventures out on the lawn during the dry weather in Kansas.

Hyde became a very successful manufacturer of his ointment, which was found to be good for many other things besides chigger-bites. He gave up trying to sell the soap made from the roots of Kansas weeds—though it was mighty good soap, at that.

But Hyde has a prejudice against becoming wealthy. When he found money coming in so fast that it was no trouble at all to pay off the mortgage on his home, he didn't go out and buy expensive things to spoil his children and make a splash. He started giving his money away.

Those who know him well declare that Hyde for many years has given away, chiefly to charity and religion, nine-tenths of his income. The remaining tenth has been more than ample for his needs, since he has always been an unpretentious citizen, without any desire to show off. He doesn't talk about his benefactions. He treats his employes a little better than any other employes of a factory have ever been treated. He owns a large park in Colorado, where his faithful employes go for long vacations at his expense.

I like to celebrate the virtues of such modest, wholly worthy citizens as A. A. Hyde, whose name is otherwise likely to be unknown to fame. He merely does what he thinks the Golden Rule requires of him. And that's not a bad rule of life, come to think of it.

Start Taking Of Testimony In Klan Suit

Suit Involving Ku Klux Klan In Pennsylvania Opens In Pittsburgh

JUDGE ORDERS SPEEDY TRIAL

J. E. McQuinn, National Cashier Of Klan, Is First Witness

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 9.—Hearing of the suit and counter-suit involving the Ku Klux Klan in Pennsylvania and five former members of the group opened in federal court here today, with indications that the taking of testimony and depositions would be carried forward with all possible speed.

The five former Klansmen seek an accounting of the Klan's activities in the state.

Urged by Federal Judge W. H. S. Thomson to hurry through the preliminaries to bring to light the high spots in the trial as early as possible, the Klan put its first witness, J. E. McQuinn, of Washington, D. C., on the stand.

McQuinn, national cashier of the Klan, said that the organization extended throughout the United States and its possessions and included 20,000 local organizations. He said that the Klan first came to Pennsylvania during the winter of 1921-1922.

He was followed on the stand by Herbert C. Shaw of Harrisburg, grand dragon of the realm of Pennsylvania.

amounts to nothing without a controlling idea. An idea has no bulk. It can not even be seen. In size and shape it is not even a tiny, fleeting shadow. But immeasurable tons of matter, without an idea, are merely tons of waste. And somewhere, at the beginning of all this bulk of earth, at the beginning of all this untold bulk of stars and planets, was an idea.

REST

Oliver Wendell Holmes, 87 year old member of the United States supreme court, has a motto. He says: "Rest is not the destiny of man." He might with equal truth say that a routine, day by day job, is not the destiny of man. Work, merely as work, is not the destiny of man. Achievement is something else. Mere idleness has little place in life, but change of work, change from routine, may have a very important place.

LEARNING JOBS

One of the best of short and simple rules for success is "learn every job before you try to boss it." It is pleasant to see a man promoted to higher office and to find he has studied the job that was ahead of him so carefully that he is thoroughly capable of being a boss. And nothing is more tragical that the tragedy of the unprepared.

This Local Man Offering Praise For New Konjola

Says That This Medicine Relieved Him Of Kidney And Stomach Suffering.

MR. NEWTON A. GREEN
Seavy Photo

Konjola has already been a blessing to hundreds of people in New Castle and nearby towns. It has made men and women, in all walks of life, happy with the knowledge that life for them will no longer be one gloomy day after the other, suffering terrible miseries, but has given them the joy of living, by banishing the common ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

One report after the other is being received by the Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, from sufferers who have already been relieved of their health troubles. For instance, Mr. Newton A. Green, 307 Fern street, New Castle, made the following statement:

"I am entirely relieved of the terrible miseries of stomach and kidney trouble since I have completed a treatment of Konjola," said Mr. Green. "It was the first medicine to help me and I feel that such a remedy should be indorsed to the public.

"For a long time I have been in a completely rundown condition and although I tried all kinds of medicine I never could find one that would give me any relief. I suffered almost all the day from lumbago and it was almost impossible for me to do my work because of the severe pains. But the worst trouble was with my stomach which caused me misery after every meal. Large quantities of gas formed after I ate the least bit of food. I was told this was brought on by constipation and even the strongest laxatives failed to help me. During the night I would have to rise several times because of weak kidneys and all day I had awful headaches that were due to a sluggish liver. I was steadily losing in weight and felt bad all the time.

"I noticed in the papers that Konjola was recommended by many local people for such disorders as mine and I finally made up my mind to give this medicine a trial. The first two bottles gave me more relief than all the medicine I had taken. The new feelings of health that came over me surprised me and I didn't know what to make of it. The pains in my back from lumbago disappeared and I could do my work without suffering the least bit. As I continued with the treatment my stomach got better until finally I was able to eat anything that I wanted without the least bad result afterward. Konjola regulated my bowels and gave me free movement every day. My kidneys are stronger and I never have to get up during the night, and all the liver trouble is gone. Konjola has helped me in every way and I am feeling better than I have in many years.

"My wife also has been helped by this medicine and we both think it is a blessing to our home. We recommend it every chance we get.

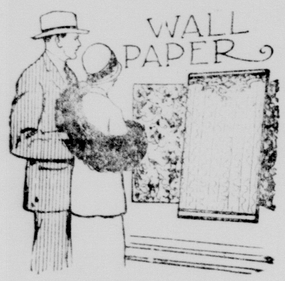

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

The Konjola Man will be at the store from 7:00 to 9:00 Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

Collected Money But Names Didn't Appear In Book

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 9. — Joseph Rheinstrom, 65 years old, living at a fashionable hotel, was placed in jail because several gullible and wealthy women who aspired to social status, got provoked when the man failed to get their names in the social register, that book on which so many claims to social prominence is based.

Formal complaint was made against Rheinstrom by J. V. Morgan, attorney for the social register. Morgan said Rheinstrom had obtained about $1800 from his victims on promise that he would see that their names went into the golden book.

FRIEDA HEMPEL MAY SETTLE SUIT

Millionaire Philanthropist May Agree To Pay $18,000 Per Year To Soprano

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 9.—Frieda Hempel, operatic soprano, and August Heckscher, seventy-nine-year old philanthropist, may settle their difficulties out of court. It was reported today that Heckscher, in an effort to end the litigation brought against him by Miss Hempel, has offered to settle $18,000 a year on her for life.

Miss Hempel had claimed that Heckscher originally agreed to pay her $48,000 a year under the terms of a novel contract which she cites in her action against Heckscher, trial of which is pending in the supreme court.

In return for the $48,000 annually, the opera singer said she bound herself not to accept any engagement to "sing for hire" that would take her from New York City for more than two days at a time. Also that she was to sing for charity or community service at any time the aged millionaire requested. She has not appeared in concert since April 1926, when the verbal contract is said to have been made.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

A LITTLE CURIO COLLECTOR

Without waiting for the boy to make any remark Shrike continued. "If you think I am a killer you ought to see my cousin, Red-Back. I have never met him myself, but I have heard that he never even thinks of beginning a meal until he has nine victims 'on the hang', as we Shrikes say. I believe that he has won the name of 'Nine-Killer' through it."

"I am glad that I never have met him and I hope I never shall." Peter was getting angry again. Butcher Bird must have noticed it, for he added hurriedly:

"But I have another cousin, too—a distant one to be sure, but still a relative—that I am quite sure you would like. Her name is Bower Bird. Did you ever hear of her?"

"No!" the boys spoke shortly. "And I am not sure that I care to."

"She is a very nice little bird! A gentle bird, too, not a bit like me," Shrike continued, quickly. "She and her mate live in a nest in a tree, but she has a fancy for collecting curios for an outdoor living-room and every spring they make for themselves the prettiest arbor down among the glasses.

"I have been told that it is a real treat to visit them—they have a wonderful collection of curios that they have gathered—bits of shells, odd shiny stones, pieces of gay clothes, funny bones and flowers—well they just love flowers and fill their arbor with them."

"I should like to know birds with such good taste! Do you mean to tell me that they can be relatives of yours?" Peter was curious. "It sounds too good to be true. Where do they live? Do you suppose they would mind if I went to call on them?"

Butcher Bird became much embarrassed at this question. He flitted his tail nervously.

"I am afraid they would—that is,

THEY HAVE A WONDERFUL COLLECTION,—BITS OF SHELLS, SHINY STONES, AND GAY FLOWERS

I don't believe you could—I mean I'm sure you can't. Well, to tell you the truth, I have no idea where they live. The only thing I'm sure of is that they live nowhere near here. It was a long while ago that I heard about them and I just remember hearing my grandfather say something about a 'tropical country,' whatever that may be. Of course I might be able to find out their address for you if you will ask me again some day, though I don't know what good it will do you."

"Never mind, Butcher Bird. It really doesn't matter, anyhow." Peter was becoming just a little tired of Shrike's company, and was wondering how he could get away from the fellow. Just then he happened to look across the path and noticed a queer mound of earth that he had not seen before. And in front of the mound were two little birds engaged in an excited discussion. The boy caught part of what they were saying way over where he was.

"I know you are wrong, my dear. The Eagle is certainly the strongest of birds, but he is not the king," remarked one bird.

"Then who is?" demanded the other. Peter strained his ear to hear the reply, but at that moment Butcher Bird began to sing and he couldn't catch it.

Next—"Fearless and Friendly."

Fingerprint Expert Demands Big Sum

Files Suit Against Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall For Work In Murder Case

(International News Service)

TRENTON, N. J., April 9. — Aaron M. Blattman, fingerprint expert, of New York, today filed suit for $56,000 in the Federal court here against Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and her brothers, Willie and Henry Stevens.

The Rev. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, a choir singer in his church, were murdered by an unidentified person several years ago. Mrs. Hall and her brothers were tried on a charge of murder and were acquitted.

Blattman alleges that he was to have been paid $6,000 by the trio for proof that fingerprints on a calling card, alleged to have been found beside the body of the Rev. Hall, were not those of Willie Stevens but had been forged. He further charges that he was to have had the sole rights for the sale and publication of this proof.

He claims that the day before the Hall-Mills trial opened in Somerville his proof was submitted to the defense for use. The defense, he claims, refused to use the evidence and revealed it to newspapers.

He asks $6,000 for his work in connection with the calling card, and $50,000 for alleged violation of the aggreement on publication rights.

THEFT REPORTED.

John Dix of 509 North Mercer street reported Saturday that while his machine was parked near the place of business of Dufford Furniture company that some unknown person stole the glass wings at the side of his windshield. The articles taken are valued at $10.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. He tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 86 per cent, and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from McKee's Rit Rate Store, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you, or costs you nothing.

Discovers Man Shooting Craps With Prisoners

Police Officer Makes Unusual Discovery On Sunday Night

Sometimes the police do not find it necessary to go far away from headquarters to get in on a little crap game.

In fact over the week-end, according to Sergeant James Steiner, there was a little game in progress in the city jail, when he happened in on it last night.

Charles Watson, negro, who has been a frequenter of the city jail bunkroom on several occasions, was shooting crap with a bunch of negro men, who were in jail as a result of a raid at 1017 Moravia street.

He was on the outside and furnished the dice. The men in the cell were evidently furnishing what little money there was in the game.

Watson was promptly locked up and his dice and 35 cents in winnings taken from him.

He was given the option of $10 fine or ten days in the county jail by the mayor this morning.

Revival Concludes Sunday At Hoover Heights Tabernacle

The revival meetings held at the Hoover Heights tabernacle during the past three weeks came to a happy conclusion last evening. During the testimony meeting many witnessed to the good received from the services. Those baptized by immersion were Mrs. Florence Cartwright and daughter Florence Wilma Cartwright. Mrs. George Scripture sang "Lost." Stewart Walker led the song service. S. Weatherby played the saxaphone and M. J. Scripture the violin.

Rev. G. B. Scripture chose as his text for his closing message "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him."

The meeting closed with a large altar service when many wept their way through to peace with God and victory over things in their lives.

Special Play At St. Andrew's Church

By special arrangement with Samuel French of New York a new play "Bread" was presented in the Guild room of St. Andrew's church by a group of young people of the parish following the Easter night service.

The play was staged and directed by Jacob C. Hetrick and the cast coached by William H. Evans. The almost professional technique of the performers pleased a large audience. The following members made up the cast: William H. Evans, Arthur Owens, Eunice Woodcock, Frances Hicks, Elizabeth Allsopp, Josephine Cartwright.

Petition To Oust Road Supervisors Presented To Court

Claimed That They Have Fixed Roads Near Their Own Homes And Neglected Others

Petition asking for the ousting of Wayne township road supervisors, Peter Tillia, Lee Parker and William Friday was presented to court this morning.

It is alleged in the petition that they have been neglecting the highways, and have spent available money in fixing roads in the vicinity of their own homes.

It is claimed that the Squaw Run, Harlansburg and Glasser bridge roads are all in very bad shape. They have been so bad that rural mail carriers have had great difficulty in getting the mail delivered.

Judge Chambers issued a rule on the supervisors to show cause why their seats should not be declared vacant. The rule is returnable on May 7.

SETTLEMENT IS MADE IN AUTOMOBILE CASE WITHOUT ANY TRIAL

Settlement of the suit of L. W. Strayer against James P. Toler, was reported to Judge Chambers at court this morning. The case was one for damages in an auto accident and was to have been taken up today. The terms of the settlement were not announced.

Famous Trans-Atlantic Flier Here Thursday

CLARENCE D. CHAMBERLIN

Ticket sales show that large numbers of the people of New Castle will hear Clarence D. Chamberlin, New York-to-Germany flier, who is scheduled to make three appearances in New Castle Thursday, April 12, according to Herbert Peairs, manager of the Scottish Rite Cathedral and a member of the airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce, who is sponsoring the appearance of Mr. Chamberlin.

Already the civic clubs of the city have bought many tickets to the banquet, and when the people gather at the banquet in the dining room of the Scottish Rite Cathedral at 6:30 Thursday evening it looks as if there will be at least 1,500 guests, Peairs says. Mr. Chamberlin will be the guest of honor.

Will Greet Flier

Escorted over Lawrence county by an air circus consisting of several planes owned by enthusiasts in Cleveland and Pittsburgh, Chamberlin is scheduled to land at the Harlansburg road airport at two o'clock in the afternoon. A reception committee consisting of city and county officials and members of the Chamber of Commerce will greet the flier and present him with a giant tin key to the city, after which he will be taken to the Scottish Rite Cathedral where he will speak to school children at 3:30. Following this he will be guest of honor at a community banquet in the Cathedral at 6:30. At eight o'clock he will give another lecture in the auditorium of the Cathedral.

"New Castle must get up in the air," declares Mr. Peairs, "and that is one of the reasons why we have brought Chamberlin. The city, if it gets behind the airport idea and becomes air-minded, has a wonderful chance to progress rapidly. Really, there is nothing to hold us back. But the whole community must get behind and push.

No One Making Money

"No one is going to make money out of the appearance of Chamberlin. His guarantee was underwritten by a group of public spirited citizens. If more than this is realized, then it goes to the airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce, who will use it to further aviation in New Castle.

"Most of the progressive schools and colleges in the United States are now giving courses in flying. At Harvard College and at New York University the students have organized flying clubs, raised money to buy airplanes in which they expect to qualify for pilot's licenses. This only goes to show that the future of America is in the air.

"If it is going to be an aerial age, then New Castle should be among the first cities to see the possibilities of the air. As a city we are located in one of the most strategic positions in Western Pennsylvania. When the time comes we should be ready to accept opportunities."

Gun Battle Fatal To Deputy Sheriff, Other Man Killed

Two Are Dead And Two Are Believed Dying In Portsmouth, Ohio, Gun Fight

(International News Service)

PORTSMOUTH, O., April 9.—Two men are dead and two others are reported near death in hospitals here as the result of a gun battle between deputy sheriffs and two men at Slab Run, near here, last night.

Henry Bending, 31, a deputy sheriff, was shot through the head and killed instantly. Garner Vencil, 27, was shot in the abdomen and died in a hospital this morning. Allen Higgins is also in a hospital with serious knife wounds and Green Willis, 47, a deputy, has a bullet wound in the neck which is expected to prove fatal.

Posts Fund For Sending Messages On World Court

Acting as local chairman of the world court committee, Arthur C. White of this city has posted a fund of $50 at the Western Union Telegraph company to pay for messages which will be sent to Washington by New Castle citizens urging support of the Gillette resolution now pending in congress.

The Gillett resolution is one introduced by the senator from Massachusetts which, if passed, would direct President Coolidge to resume negotiations upon the matter of the world court.

Mr. White believes that a considerable number of local citizens will desire to send messages in support of the action.

Jury Is Selected To Try Automobile Damage Case Today

Suit Of Wm. B. McCullen And Earl Yeager Against J. D. Patterson Called

When court convened this morning a jury was taken in the case of William B. Cullen and Earl Yeager against J. D. Patterson, in which the plaintiffs are asking for $779.56 damages as the result of an automobile accident on the New Castle-New Wilmington road.

Cullen and Yeager are joint owners of a sedan. On November 2, 1927, A. Wilson was driving the sedan in which were Cullen, Louis Bellaro and George McMahon. They were going South. Patterson, it is claimed was going north about seven miles from that city when he crashed into the Cullen-Yeager machine. It is alleged that Patterson was driving on the wrong side of the road and that he was going at a high and dangerous rate of speed. After the jury had been chosen Judge Chambers dismissed it until this afternoon when Judge Hildebrand will be back from Philadelphia where he was attending a jurist's convention. Judge Hildebrand arrived home shortly before noon.

Knights Templar Guests At First Church Sunday

Lawrence Commandery, No. 62 Knights Templar were special guests of the First Presbyterian congregation at the Easter Sunday evening service. About 70 Knights Templar were present in full uniform and occupied reserved seats in the auditorium. The Knights were lead by Albert B. Street, eminent commander, with E. E. Seavy, captain of escort followed by officers of Lawrence Commandery, past commanders and Sir Knights.

The services including the message by the pastor and music by the choir were in keeping with the Easter season. Rev. Walter Emerson McClure spoke on the theme, "If Christ Be Not Risen."

A chorus choir under the direction of Mrs. Paul Browne Patterson, organist and chorister, gave a number of beautiful appropriate numbers.

The choir was assisted by Mrs. Fred Emery on the violin, Miss Ruth Blocher, piano and John Paton, cello.

Investigate Death Of Young Actress Following Party

Condition Of Brain Fatal To Young Actress Celebrating Divorce Case

(International News Service)

BOSTON, April 9.—An investigation into the death of Mrs. Hazel Fisher Redish, young actress, of Gloversville, N. Y., who died following a party in celebration of her divorce, was started today by District Attorney William J. Foley of Suffolk county.

The woman died from a condition of the brain, according to the autopsy performed by Medical Examiner A. H. Hodgon, of Dedham. Mrs. Redish died at the Dedham hospital.

Authorities of Massachusetts Institute of Technology in their investigation found nothing that would indicate that any of the fraternity house rules were broken by the youths, John Hartz, of Evansville, Ind., Thomas Rosborough of Glenwood, Ark., and Richard French of Andover, who accompanied the actress, it was stated.

None of the synthetic cherry brandy that Mrs. Redish and her chum Miss Gladys Brown, of Roxbury, imbibed was at the fraternity house of the Phi Kappa Sigma at any time, according to the police report to Dean Harold E. Lobdell, of M. I. T. Two Boston men held on liquor charges, were alleged to have procured the intoxicant for the party.

Dr. Neigh Speaker At Minister's Meeting

Gives Splendid Analysis Of "Stopping The Leak" In Church And Bible School

Dr. F. S. Neigh, superintendent of the New Castle district of the Erie Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church was the speaker at the bi-monthly meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association Monday morning in the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Neigh presented an unsually splendid paper which showed much thought and preparation on "Stopping the Leak." He said that this trouble of losing members was not wholly confined to the church membership but also was found in the Bible school. Spirituality and prayer was suggested as being one of the best remedies for stopping the leeks.

At the next meeting in two weeks, Henry L. Marvin will be the speaker. Mr. Marvin will speak on the subject, "If I Were a Preacher."

DISORDERLY HOUSE.

Over the week end the place of Samuel Williams on Neshannock avenue, was visited by Lieut. Hillers on complaint of neighbors and Williams and three others arrested. Williams was sent to the county jail for ten days while the three male visitors paid as follows: One paid $5 fine, one agreed to work three days and the third man went to the county jail for five days.

Most Students At Westminster Are 19 Years Old

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 9.—There are more students 19 years old at Westminster College than of any other age according to a study made of the student body last week. A group of 133 of the total 549 are 19 years old, while the 20-year old group numbers 99.

The average age for seniors is 21 years according to the figures. The oldest member of the senior class is 25, while the youngest member is but 18. Four seniors are 19 years old, while 13 are more than 22.

Juniors at the United Presbyterian school average 20 years. The youngest member of the third-year class is but 17, while the oldest member is 27. There are nine juniors who are past 22.

Nineteen is the average for sophomores. This class also claims one of the three youngest students in the college, who is just 16. The oldest member of the class is 24.

The freshmen average about 18 years each. Two first-year students are but 16, while the oldest member of the frosh is 26.

Enough of a spring freshet to float the stern wheeler made the trip possible, although the bridges over the river were barely cleared by stacks of the steamer. Thousands of persons lined the river banks to catch their first view of a steamer so far up on the Allegheny. Bill Won't Stop Floods; But Pleases Congressmen

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

WASHINGTON April 9. — The most captious critic can find but a single flaw in the Mississippi river flood prevention bill which the senate passed unanimously the other day.

It contains no hint that it ever will prevent any floods.

It provides a commission to study HOW to prevent them. It seems to take it for granted that the commission will FIND OUT how, inasmuch as it also provides $325,000,000 for the commissioners to start work after they HAVE found out.

But this strains the imagination just a little bit, considering that earlier commissions have been studying the same problem for upwards of a century, and haven't found out yet.

However, the senate shouldn't be blamed for a minor omission like that.

The senators knew they had to pass SOME SORT of a bill, and they were getting in a hurry, for congress wants to adjourn before the middle of May.

They don't know how to prevent Mississippi river floods, any more than anybody else. They only know how to legislate against 'em. For THAT purpose one bill's about as good as another, so, having this measure of Wesley L. Jones' already to act on, they undoubtedly decided it would be just as well to go ahead and get it off their hands.

The bill suits the lawmakers from the flood states pretty well, anyway.

There's no reason why it shouldn't. It means the early expenditure of $325,000,000 in their constituents' midst, and that much money's a nice thing to have in circulation in a community, whether it prevents floods or not.

To be sure, Congressman Frank R. Reed, flood-preventionist-in-chief in the lower house, thinks the initial appropriation ought to run to $473,000,000.

Still, what's the odds? Call it 325 or 473—it's agreed that either figure's only a starter—that it will be at least a billion finally. A temporary trifle like $148,000,000 doesn't make much difference in the long run.

Another peculiar but gratifying thing is the satisfaction with which news has been received that the Mexican government's promised to recognize legal American oil land titles ante-dating the constitution of 1917.

The curious part of it is that Mexico never did dispute these pre-1917 titles—provided they were legally acquired originally.

The whole rumpus, in Ambassador Sheffield's day, was over President Calles' refusal to recognize the illegally-acquired ones, too. To reject 'em was retroactive, Sheffield claimed, and it darned nearly caused a diplomatic break, if nothing else.

Now Calles says the same thing to Ambassador Morrow that he said to Sheffield, and this time it seems it's a great concession on Calles' part, and everything's lovely again.

It's a triumph for Morrow, at that—that he's able to get along with the neighbors the way he does.

How well the oil interests like it, however, we haven't heard.

It doesn't particularly matter just now. They'll have to make the best of things as they find 'em, while Dwight stays on the job.

Regional Conference For School Officials

To Show Proper Teaching Methods For Mentally Handicapped Children

The Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction, acting in conjunction with Lloyd C. French, supervising principal of schools, and Mrs. Katherine B. Hazlett, special class teacher, will hold a regional conference on special education at Monaca Beaver county Friday April 13

The purpose of this conference is to bring special class teachers of this district into closer contact, to demonstrate special class teaching methods, to show the value and necessity of special classes for the mentally handicapped; to demonstrate to grade teachers the scope of activities and methods employed in teaching the mentally backward.

The conference is designed to serve school officials, administrations, and teachers, in western and southwestern Pennsylvania, including Lawrence county.

All who are interested in the education and training of handicapped children will be welcome at this conference.

There will be two sessions the morning session being devoted to the demonstration of special class teaching, by Mrs. Hazlett, and pupils of her class. The afternoon session will be conducted as an open forum for the discussion of special class methods.

Can Learn Trade In Army Service

So Declares Local Recruiting Officer At City Hall Station

No matter what branch of the service of the United States army in which a young and energertic young man may enlist, there is always an opportunity affored him to learn some trade or some course of instruction open to him, that makes it easier for him to earn a living in civilian life, asserts the local recruiter.

It is merely a matter of time, until some of the things learned while in the army, will prove of great benefit to the man, who, once having been in the army, re-enters civilian life.

The Quartermasters corps of the army is the business end of the army. It provides such necessities of every day life such as food, clothing and barracks, fuel, electricity, animal and motor drawn transportation for the man, who is in the army. An excellent opportunity is afforded of learning the basic principles of business, which the soldier boy will have no trouble in capitalizing in civil life. A subsistence school maintained in Chicago and a school of administration maintained at Philadelphia, also a motor transport school, maintained at Camp Holabird, Maryland, are three of the agencies of advancement the qualified enlisted men in this service may take advantage of while in the army.

Then there is the signal corps which offers every opportunity for technical training. There are opportunities in this branch of the service to learn radio telephony and telegraphy, submarine cables, meterology, photography and the handling of pigeons Schools for enlisted men in this branch of the service are maintained at Fort Monmouth, N. J., in the heart of the Atlantic seashore resort district.

Those interested can secure full details concerning these or any other branch of the army service now open for enlistment from Corporal Walter McKelvey, at the city council chamber.

"WHEN MY BABY WAS RUN DOWN

Father John's Medicine Helped Him Gain Weight"

"My baby was sick, pale, and run down. One of my neighbor's recommended Father John's Medicine and since giving it to him he has felt fine and has no colds. He has also gained weight. I am giving it to all my children." (Signed) Mrs. Rose De Pontliard, Shirley, Mass.

For children who are pale and thin, who suffer from repeated colds, Father John's Medicine has proven its value for more than 70 years. It builds new strength because it is pure and wholesome nourishment.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, April 9.—A national hook-up of bus lines makes it possible to travel from New York to Los Angeles in six days and six nights for a fare of $56.50, half of the railroad tariff. The present schedule calls for two buses a day each way. Later the operating company expects to add pullman motor cars with dining accommodations. It will also operate passenger planes, so that trips may be made partly by bus and partly by air.

A Palm Beach, Fla., reader of this diary calls us to account for not including the steamer trip around Manhattan Island in my itinerary for the visitor who wants to see a lot of New York quickly. I omitted it from my list because the steamer's season doesn't open until around May 1. In Summer months it is an ideal way to spend three hours. I will write about it later.

I heard of a dweller in a fashionable apartment in the East Sixties who kept a pig in his rooms until it became a hog and made so much noise that other tenants protested, but I didn't believe it until I saw in Central Park a sign, "Pigs for Sale," and investigated. Swine are kept in the Park menagerie so New Yorkers can see what they look like. Superfluous pigs in the litters that arrive periodically are sold, frequently as pets. Thus there is a pig-farm within a couple of blocks of the social center of Manhattan.

The pig-owner referred to above was wont to walk in the park in the evening, leading his pet on a chain.

Incidentally, the cow is one of the most popular animals in the zoo with young visitors.

Boris Lovet-Lorski says he's going away to Bali, six days sail from Java, to live the life of Adam. He wants to exist in the nude while he sculps. In Bali he will find the kinds of stone he likes best for his work, and, he explains, "It's so primitive I won't have to wear any clothes. I tried that last summer, in Connecticut, but people in clothes kept coming around, and I couldn't keep my mind on my work."

Vincent Astor's new yacht, being built in Germany, at a cost of $2,000,000, will carry two planes. At the City club, where Lynde Denig took me to lunch, two men were talking about the Astor yacht plans, and one of them recalled that the late Horace Dodge's "Delphine" cost $100,000 a month to operate at sea. It was a smaller ship than Astor's.

"Forty times a groomsman, but never a groom," is one of joking lines friends perpetrate at the expense of John Nicholas Brown, more or less well known as the richest bachelor in the world. Of course, he is a much sought young man, but eligible debbies get infrequent glimpses of him here. When they do, it usually is at a wedding, for he is much in demand whenever one of his Harvard classmates marches to the altar. He spends most of his time in Boston and Newport, and is very shy about being photographed or interviewed.

I have been trying to persuade E. J. Loughman to allow me to get pictures to illustrate a story about his extraordinary hobby. He is a retired real estate operator with a farm at Lawrence, L. I., and he maintains a complete, ultra-modern fire department for Lawrence and Cedarhurst, twin towns, at his own expense. Like his brother, Michael, a state tax commissioner, he is an honorary fire chief of New York City. The brothers began following fires when they were boys, and never lost their enthusiasm for the sport. One of their favorite haunts is No. 40 engine house in West Sixty-eighth street, where they are admitted on a professional basis.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyance which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Easter style show of new STUDEBAKERS

..months in advance of other makes

WE cordially invite you to attend our Spring Showing of the newest motoring modes as created by Studebaker. In beauty and grace of body lines, these Studebaker and Erskine fine cars lead the fashion. In luxury of finish and appointments they anticipate the style trend in tomorrow's smart motor cars. Brilliant color combinations and newest pastel shades sponsored by fashion authorities—Damson Plum, Antelope Tan and Gold Bronze—Spruce Green, Dove Grey and Old Ivory—Burgundy and Deauville Sand—Tapestry Blue, Duskblu and Carmine.

In The President Eight, upholstery is of two-toned broadcloth or mohair in colors harmonizing with the body themes. Door panels finished in antique walnut, embellished with etched silver medallions. The Commander Regal has such luxuries as seat cushions 9½ inches deep, silk assist cords, smoking sets with electric lighters. The Dictator Royal has decorative door panels, bright metal parts of chromium plate and onyx driving fitments. The Erskine Six is most tastefully fitted, even to arm rests and ash receivers.

If you paid many thousands, you could not surpass these Studebaker and Erskine cars in modishness, luxury of finish and richness of appointments. Their championship performance proves the brilliance of Studebaker's engineering genius. Select your new car at our Spring Showing—the newest styles and One-Profit values—$795 to $2450 f. o. b. factories.

Seventh Ward News

Beautiful Easter Services In Ward

Special Features Mark Services; Other News Notes Of Seventh Ward

Appropriate Easter services were conducted in all the ward churches on Sunday. For the occasion churches were attractively decorated with Easter flowers and there were Easter sermons and special music in observance of the day. Special features in the various churches were as follows:

In the Mahoning Presbyterian church at the morning service Rev. Schnebly, pastor, preached on the subject, "Immortality." The spring communion service was observed and one adult was received into the church. Special music was a solo, "Angels Roll the Rock Away," by Mrs. Irwin Clark, and an anthem, "Behold the King," by the church choir. At the evening service Rev. Schnebly preached on the subject, "The Risen Lord."

In the Madison Avenue Christian church Rev. W. W. Sniff preached on the subject, "The Greatest Event of the Age." At the evening service an Easter Pageant was presented in the church. The pageant was entitled, "The Garden of Light." Nineteen persons took part in the pageant. The church was filled to capacity.

A Joash program was carried out in the Mahoning M. E. church at the beginning of the morning church service Sunday morning. A couple of weeks ago members of the Sabbath school and church were given Joash banks, on Sunday these were brought to the church and put in a Joash chest. There was a special program. Eight boys entered dressed as priests of olden times. The first two boys, one carried the American flag, the other the Christian flag. The next four boys carried the Joash chest, the last two boys followed behind the chest. The chest was placed on the altar, then the people marched by and put their banks into the chest. A large sum was received which will be used toward the support of the church.

After this part of the program, there was the Easter service. Theme of the sermon preached by Rev. Sleppy, pastor, was "The Living Hope." Eight were baptized including children and adults. There was special Easter music by the church choir. Another feature was the presentation of a silk Christian flag to the church by Mrs. McCoy's Bible class. At the evening service the theme of the sermon was, "The One Saving Name." The special services which have been conducted in the church the past ten days concluded with the service Sunday evening in the church. Loy Gwin chorister, sang solos at both morning and evening services.

New Traffic Signal Is Operated By Sound Waves

A traffic signal operated by sound waves has been devised by Charles Adler of Baltimore. The device is intended for the protection of traffic at crossings on country highways and in suburban areas away from congested districts. Its chief usefulness will come at the type of intersection at which a main artery of travel is crossed by a road carrying a lesser volume of traffic.

At a crossing of this character a signal controlled by timing mechanism is apt to create endless congestion because of its frequent interruptions to the streams of traffic moving at high speed along the principal thoroughfare. The interference comes at regular intervals, regardless of the state of traffic, and halts travel on the main road even when there is complete absence of vehicles in the intersecting channel. The new signal is designed to do away with this needless interference with the principal flow of traffic.

The device involves the use of a three-color automatic signal controlled by the actual traffic movement along the minor thoroughfare. Suspended at the intersection, the signal normally displays the green light for travel along the more important highway and the red light for vehicles in the intersecting channel. These lights remain fixed until an automobile approaches along the minor road. Facing the red light, the driver of this car comes forward at slow speed. Near the corner he finds a microphone—an ordinary telephone transmitter—affixed to a post.

To procure for himself a clear passage across the main thoroughfare, the motorist has only to sound his motor horn when he is close to the transmitter. The vibrations engendered by the blast are picked up by the microphone and communicated to the mechanism of the signal. Actuated by these vibrations, the mechanism shifts electrical circuits and changes the lights on the main artery from green to amber followed by red. The same operation causes green to appear for the crossroad, permitting the motorist who sounded his horn to cross or enter the main channel of traffic.

The new position of the lights remains fixed for ten seconds, or for such cycle as may be predetermined by the adjustment. At the end of the cycle the lights are restored to normal, allowing the resumption of travel on the main road and blocking crosswise movement.

When two or more cars approach in close succession along the minor road, each fresh blast of a horn starts the cycle anew, holding the crosswise channel open for travel for a full ten seconds after the final blast.

The first installation of the new signal has been made by the Baltimore police department at a minor intersection of Charles street in an outlying district, reports Norman C. McLoud, writer of scientific and technical articles in a National Safety Council periodical.

Farmers Predict Small Wheat Crop

Agriculturists Report That Freezing And Thawing Have Killed Wheat

MERCER, Pa., April 9.—Perhaps the lightest county wheat crop of 29 years is predicted for 1928 by agriculturists.

The freezing and thawing winter with lack of snow killed the crop it is reported.

The prediction is based on the appearance of the crop.

SEEK RECEIVER FOR FOX RANCH COMPANY

CHILLICOTHE, O., April 9.— A receiver was asked to be appointed by common pleas court for the Scioto Valley Fox Ranch, the only ranch of its kind in this section of the United States. The suit was filed here, near where the ranch is located. Arthur L. Goodspeed, manager and the ranch company were made defendants by three stockholders who claim Goodspeed told them he would make them $24,000 on an investment of $1,500 in foxes.

NARROW ESCAPE IN AIRSHAFT PLUNGE

ROCHESTER, Pa., April 9.—Miss Carpline Corless, 16, plunged through an airshaft at the Rochester Trust Company building and alighted on her feet on a skylight. The skylight was shattered and broken glass showered employees of the bank. T. M. Freeble, who has offices in the building, rescued the girl. She escaped with a few slight bruises. Miss Corless was cleaning windows in the apartment of her sister, Mrs. John Johnston, in the building. She lost her balance, fell backwards and turned a complete somersault in the air.

MR. PRESIDENT

Calvin Coolidge Probably Tired Of His Job And Means What He Says, Writer Believes

CALVIN COOLIDGE

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Who says a man can't really get sick of being president?

The fact is hardly any of us believe he can.

Yes it's notorious that some other job than the one we're holding down looks to most of us like the goal of all human happiness—but, occasionally, when one of us succeeds in grabbing it off, he generally reports himself good-an'-gol-dinged tired of it before long.

Mayn't this be as true of the presidency as of anything else?—only, nobody living, except Calvin Coolidge and William Howard Taft, having given it a trial, the rest of us can't grasp the idea with our finite minds.

It isn't impossible to imagine that Calvin Coolidge thinks of the presidency as a veritable hoodoo to him.

It was as president that he lost his much-loved younger son. It was as president that he attended his father's funeral. As president he has seen his wife's mother fading steadily away. As president, in the last year, he has watched Mrs. Coolidge's own health slowly decline—nothing serious, her doctors insist, but the fact remains that she is no more than a shadow of her former self.

These things are mere historic incidents in the life of a president, but they're tragedies in the life of a man—and, to himself, we mustn't forget that Calvin Coolidge is a human being, who feels grief and loneliness, even though, to the rest of us, he's simply chief magistrate of the United States.

Most people who may originally have held it, I thing have abandoned the theory that President Coolidge's Black Hills announcement of his own choice not to run again this year was an insincere political gesture.

Waiving the detail that such an interpretation wasn't very flattering to the president himself, the corroborative evidence he's since given of his sincerity is pretty convincing.

If he hadn't meant what he said he'd hardly have rubbed it in as thoroughly as he has.

He wouldn't have given the tacit approval he's given to new candidacies.

If he had anything up his sleeve, it's a certainty he'd have revealed it, at least to his closest friends in the "draft Coolidge" crowd, and they'd be surer than they are of their ground. Their actions speak louder than words of the state of indecision they're in.

Personally I've a notion of my own, in explanation of the president's attitude toward another term.

My guess is that he honestly believes the precedent would be bad—that he considers eight years enough for any president and proposes to draw the line at six rather than run the score up to ten—that he fears future anger to the country, if he yields to the "draft board" in June.

Of course there are other hypotheses. For instance—

Coolidge wants to go down in history as the initiator of a new presidential policy.

He doesn't want to risk defeat, or even re-election by a smaller majority than he got before.

He deems it wise to quit while his credit's good.

He's worn out, or Mrs. Coolidge is.

And so on indefinitely.

The "draft Coolidge" bunch being as politicians, professionally incapable of imagining any but a strictly selfish view of things, calculate that the president won't be able to resist the temptation to take in a renomination dumped on his doorstep "for the party's sake."

Coolidge, himself, probably doesn't know what he'd do in such an event—unless I'm right in my surmise that the question's one of conscience with him, rather than of mere preference.

But if his conscience is involved, I estimate him as plenty stubborn enough to send the Kansas City orphan to an asylum, before he'll compromise with those New England principles of his. My hunch is that his motive's honest patriotism, and I've as good a right to is as the "draft Coolidge-ites" have to theirs.

All of which isn't much of a personality sketch of Coolidge.

The truth is, a president can't possibly have much human personality. He doubtless takes one into the White House with him, but it soon becomes merged in his job.

Nobody has a very accurate idea what a president's like, except superficially.

Even folks who "knew him when" presently lose touch with him—as president. There hasn't been an exception in modern times, whatever the rule may have been in the long-ago, when the presidency was a simpler stunt than it is today.

Suffice it to say of Coolidge, as a personality, that he's no such clam for silence as he's been represented. On the contrary, the functionaries closest to him insist that he has to be watched or he talks too freely.

Strange to relate, right here in Washington, where he lives, President Coolidge probably is least known—outside official circles.

Once he rode a little. Growing busier, he contented himself with a short walk a day, in the midst of a secret service phalanx. Now he's seldom abroad at all except on some important occasion, seated primly in an auto, with the White House mistress by his side.

And what are the explanations you hear from the populace at such times?

—"Look! There's Mrs. Coolidge!"

"Yes—and the president!"

Mrs. Coolidge's husband! That's about it.

Who used to take the long daily strolls through the capital, with but one attendant fly cop, and that one trailing discreetly 'way behind?

Who used to stop to play with the babies, and chat with the watchful mammas and nurse maids, in the parks?

Who was the "great lady" recognized as such, though you'd never have guessed it from any airs she put on—who used to visit old-time friends of no social importance whatever, frequently in 2-by-4 flats on unfashionable cross streets?

Who was it whose smiling face was known at least by sight to practically all Washington—by half of it well enough to take off its hat as the face's owner passed?

Mrs. Coolidge every time.

Alas! Washington hasn't seen Mrs. Coolidge in a great many weeks, and it's worried nearly to death, despite all the doctors' assurances that she isn't gravely ill.

As for the president, just now—

Well, any long-married man, trying to carry on alone, in the absence of a helpmate on whom he's so peculiarly dependent as Calvin Coolidge must be on his, as the very soul of his White House home, is a melancholy sight to behold.

Violators Of Pure Food Laws Number 135 During March

Selling Chicory For Coffee And Improper Fig Bars Among Prosecutions

HARRISBURG, April 9.—Final reports compiled by the bureau of foods and chemistry of the State Department of Agriculture show a total of 135 prosecutions during March for violation of the state pure food laws. The number was a new high total for the year, 67 having been made in February and 129 in January.

The large increase in the number of prosecutions was attributed by officials of the bureau to continued violations of the act which prohibits the sale of coffee and chicory unless the presence of the latter is marked plainly on the label. Fifty-seven violations of that act were recorded during March.

Sale of fig bars which contained sulphur-dioxide was another cause of prosecutions.

Goats On Charleroi Hills Quite Wild

Only Owner Can Approach Herd Of Goats Near Charleroi

CHARLEROI, Pa., April 9.—Rocky mountaineers who are homesick for the "land above the clouds" are urged to visit this vicinity and cure their ailment.

The cure would be in seeing the wild goat herd which roams the river hill near here. The goats, man-shy and evasive as they may be, are the property of J. Everett Henderson, mine foreman, and can be approached only by him.

Henderson purchased the animals several years ago from a miner who was quitting the country. They numbered two then. There are now eight goats in the herd.

A year or so ago one of the goats was shot by two hunters. A lawsuit resulted and it cost the hunters, in fines and costs, about $45. Since then the animals have not been molested.

Church Petitions To Change Name

Mercer Second Presbyterian Will Be Known As Central Presbyterian

MERCER, Pa., April 9.—A petition was presented here today to Judge J. A. McLaughry for signature asking the legal right to change the name of the Second Presbyterian Church to the Central Presbyterian Church of Mercer.

The petition signed by the five trustees sets forth that the church was incorporated under the first name on the date of April 29th 1874.

The court signed an order for the publication of the notice for four consecutive times at the expiration of which if no objections are fileed he will sign the order making the formal change.

Central Presbyterians Contribute $800 For Refurnishing Church Parlors

At the Central Presbyterian church on the public square on Sunday, a special offering totalling between $700 and $800 was made by members of the congregation for refurnishing the church parlors. The congregation was asked for $500 for the work, and the response went far over the goal.

Some 47 new members were added to the Central Presbyterian church roll at the morning service.

Why Commercialize The Schools?

(Contributed)

Our schools in recent years have become a prey to subtle propaganda on the part of private interests, and it has been an uphill task for superintendents and boards of education to put a check on this encroachment. School authorities are continually confronted with the job of freeing the schools of various promotional projects by outside activities.

Our schools are regarded as one of the finest advertising mediums and the school child—for reasons that are clearly obvious—a most excellent salesman. A multiplicity of local enterprises have come to recognize this fact and it has resulted in a tendency to commercialize the schools where boards of education and school executives have failed or been unable to put up strong resistance. On the other hand, considerable criticism has been heaped on those school officials where they have refused special interests to promote their projects.

One reason for this situation is the growth of "Special Weeks," which in recent years have in varying degrees become a part of the school program. Some of these, such as "American Education Week," have been universally recognized by superintendents, but the tendency for these special weeks to increase has been so persistent that it has been necessary to set the limit.

Then, too, it may be chargeable in part to the World War. During that period the schools were anxious to contribute their bit and the bars were let down to a commendable degree. Since then some difficulty has been experienced in raising those bars again.

The schools are no different in this respect than are other organizations. "Tag Days" have become so frequent in towns and cities that local authorities have been forced to limit the number of these special tag days per year. School authorities have adopted a similar policy.

It is imperative that our schools be impartial and be conducted solely in the interest of the child. Such a conclusion is sound. Distracting influences should be barred; anything that recognizes the interests of one community group against another should be eliminated; in short, the superintendent and the board of education should shut out anything that bears the mark of commercialism or detracts from the regular school program and such desirable efforts should have the universal approval and backing of the public.

Multitude Of Vocations Represented By Candidates For Pennsylvania Assembly

(From News Bureau, State Capital)

HARRISBURG, April 9.—Virtually every vocation on the list is represented in the column for occupations by candidates for the 1929 session of the General Assembly. The legal profession leads in both the Senate and the House as the chosen work for most candidates.

There are seventy-three attorneys candidates for the House and seventeen for the Senate. On the House side lawyers are closely followed by merchants and thirdly by clerks. Sixty-one persons listing themselves as merchants have filed nomination papers for the lower branch of the legislature and fifty-one clerks.

Sixteen Women

Sixteen women claiming their occupations as housewives are candidates for the House and one in the Senate. The lone woman candidate for the Senate is Senator Flora M. Vare, of Philadelphia, who succeeded her husband a few years ago. Two housekeepers also are candidates for the House.

The building trades have a fair number of representatives seeking to become lawmakers especially in the House. Among the candidates are the following: plumbers, seven; steam fitters, three; carpenters, seven; paperhanger, one; painters, three; electrician, one, and bricklayers, one.

Farming is the occupation given by twenty-eight aspirants for seats in the House and four in the Senate. Senator William C. Freeman of Cornwall, Lebanon county, lists himself both as a farmer and a banker.

The newspaper profession and the publishing business have their representatives among the candidates for both branches of the legislature. There are three editors and one reporter who are candidates for the House. Representative Bart Richards, of New Castle, is the reporter who is seeking a second term from Lawrence county. On the House side also five publishers and three printers are candidates. The Senatorial candidates include one reporter and two publishers.

Unique Occupation

One of the most unique occupational listings is opposite the name of Robert D. Heaton, of Ashland, Schuylkill county. His work as given is State Senator. He has represented the county in the last several sessions.

Nearly a dozen of the professions in addition to those learned in the law are represented among the candidates for the House. There are three veterinarians who are seeking nominations for the lower branch of the legislature. Eleven engineers, many of them civil engineers, also have filed as candidates for the House. Among the other professions included in the group are: chiropractor, one; dentists, three; physicians, seven; musicians, one; opticians, one; druggists, five; auditors, eight; chiropodist, one. The Senate has one engineer, one architect, two dentists, one journalist and two physicians included among its candidates.

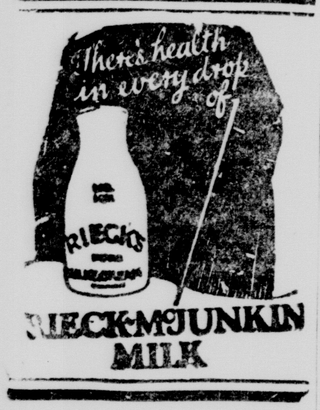

Real estate and insurance are popular vocations for several dozen candidates for the House. There are thirty-one realtors who have filed petitions for the House and twenty insurance men. In addition six brokers, ten office managers, thirty-one salesmen and five secretaries are included among the group. On the Senate side there is but two realtors, three clerks, two insurance, one broker, three salesmen and five merchants out as candidates.

Many Miners

Miners are candidates for seats in both the House and Senate. Twenty-three persons have filed for the House giving mining as their occupation and two in the Senate. There are twenty-one men who are laborers or miscellaneous workers out for the House while the Senate has two candidates in this classification.

Railroading is the occupation given by thirty-two candidates for the House while fifteen contractors aspire for the legislature. Four men feel that they can spare sufficient time from the undertaking business to assist in making the laws for the Commonwealth at the 1929 session. In addition seven persons now retired are seeking something to keep them occupied by being elected to the House. One lone retired man is after a seat in the Senate.

Among the other occupations given by candidates for the next legislature are: banker, cigarmaker, machinist, hide splitter, well driller, teacher, policemen, aldermen, tailors, barbers, justices of the peace, nurserymen, artists, gardeners, jewelers, oil producers, decoartors, samplers, students, coal operators, glass workers, sawfilers and tailors.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Penumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Cambridge Students Turning To Labor, Giving Up Sports

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, England, April 9.—Cambridge students, according to their own estimate, are turning more to work and less to pleasure and sport.

"We insist on getting more out of the University than the character-training and good time which sport offers," says a recent number oh the "Gowsman", a Cambridge student journal. "An element of seriousness has entered the University; the existence and flourishing state of the Appointments Board is significant.

"There may still be many of us here who have jobs waiting for us, thanks to the tolerance of fathers and uncles; there are many more who realize that their future employers may not be so tolerant to sons and nephews not their own.

"A university training is still a qualification, but nowhere a necessity.

"The majority of Cambridge men today know that success will only come from their own efforts and that they must begin early."

New Castle Man's Health Troubles Are Swept Away

Feels Fine, After Ten Herbs Banished Stomach, Liver and Bowel Disorders.

"Ten Herbs swept away my health troubles, and made me feel fine in every respect," was the statement of Mr. Sam DeStefano, 373 East Washington street, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of people.

"Before using Ten Herbs, I did not have any appetite, and what little I ate, distressed me," continued Mr. DeStefano, who is proprietor of a barber shop and beauty parlor. "I was troubled with gas on my stomach. My kidneys seemed to be disordered, as I had pains across my back that were severe at times. I did not get much sleep, as I had to arise often during the night. My liver was lazy, and I had dizzy spells every now and then. I was nearly always constipated, and sometimes felt so bad that I could hardly work.

"After taking Ten Herbs, my appetite is fine, and gas has left my stomach. I sleep soundly, and do not have to arise during the night. My bowels have been regulated, and my kidneys are in good condition, as the pains have left my back. Dizzy spells have disappeared. Ten Herbs gave me such good results that I do not hesitate to recommend it to the public."

Every day the glad news reaches the ears of the Ten Herbs man that scores are finding the way to perfect health by using the celebrated herbal compound, Ten Herbs. More and more it is being used and recommended by the people of this section, many of whom report that this new medicine has given amazing results in relieving disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, after they had tried many other medicines in vain. Ten Herbs also benefits the kidneys, cleanses the entire system, and relieves the aches and pains of rheumatism and neuritis.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. He will be glad to tell you how to take it to get the best results. Free sample given.

Co-Eds Campaign For Good Health

"Not A Cough In A Co-Ed", Is Slogan Of Penn State's Girl Students

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 9.—"Health bent fer Heaven" is the slogan which has been adopted by Penn State's co-eds, who have just completed observance of the annual health week at the Nittany Mountain institution.

Other catchy slogans which were turned in at the contest, which always accompanied health week, include: "The Old Gold-en Rule: Not a Cough in a Co-Ed," and "Health is Wealth. Let's be Millionaires."

This campaigning has started all the girls seeking for health, commented a campaign leader, and they mean to get it. They have begun the quest for rosy cheeks, slim figures and soldier postures. Unless there is a decided drop in interest, Penn State's girls are on the road to better health.

Old Folks Can Feel Young Now

It's The Little Daily Dose That Does It.

You can't stop the flight of time, that's sure. But what's the difference if your hair is gray and a few more wrinkles and birthdays added to your collection. The only question that matters is "How old do you feel?" and the answer to this is to be found in the condition of your "inner works."

Keep them working smoothly and your blood pure and vigorous and you'll always feel young. The best way to do this is to adopt the Kruschen habit.

The little daily dose of Kruschen Salts acts as a mild tonic on the kidneys, liver and bowels and brings about a healthy, thorough performance that drives all impurities from the system.

This means that your blood stream is full of pure blood that is carried to every part of the body creating new vigor.

Don't envy those hale, hearty, always cheery folks who are carrying youthful health into old age—be one of them. Follow the Kruschen habit religiously every morning—2 tablets of Kruschen Salts in your morning cup of coffee.

Intimate facts about body odor

THERE'S no hiding body odor. The faintest hint of it is sure to betray us—and prejudice people against us.

You know yourself what a poor opinion you have of any one who offends. But do you realize that not one of us is safe from body odor?

To live, we must perspire. Even on cool days, our millions of pores continually give off invisible perspiration—often as much as a quart of waste every 24 hours.

We may feel safe—and yet

This body moisture, whether we see it or not, is always odorous. And there's no escaping it. Every one of us—from laborer to society leader—may offend unless we take precautions.

Pores give off as much as a quart of waste every 24 hours—even on cool days . . .

Now, a purifying toilet soap. Its bland antiseptic lather keeps you safe from body odor.

Nor can we tell when we are guilty. For, once an odor becomes familiar to us, our own sense of smell becomes deadened to it—though it remains perfectly apparent to others.

So easy to end body odor now

Not by covering it up but by removing the cause. Just wash and bathe often with the delightful toilet soap that millions enjoy—Lifebuoy—it deodorizes.

The same bland and abundant antiseptic lather that helps protect health by removing germs—prevents body odor by purifying pores. Keeps complexions so fresh and clear, too. Little wonder millions favor Lifebuoy for all toilet purposes.

Girl Scouts Have Contest For Cake Baking Saturday

Ten girls, members of the local troops of Girl Scouts, with faces flushed, bent over ovens all Saturday morning. At noon they brought cakes, the results of their efforts, to a store on East Washington street, and early in the afternoon they were judged, both by popular vote and by two judges, Mrs. I. C. Brown and Mrs. William Cosel.

Placing first in the popular vote competition, the cake of Betty McAuley, having on it "Girl Scouts, troop 6" done in icing, was thought to be the best. Following Miss McAuley's cake, those baked by Katheryn Taylor, Betty Kane, Katheryn Hicks, Cleo Boagiter, Sally Lou Byers, Peggy Humes, Dorothy Bailey, Mary Nunn and Helen Keck placed in the order named.

But when the judges went to work, first estimating the cakes by general appearance, and then cutting them so that the texture could be seen, a different tale was told. Placing first in the white cake class was that of Sally Lou Byers, who baked a sponge, and whose cake, oddly enough, received but one vote in the popular contest. Second place in this class was given to Cleo Boagiter.

In the dark cake class, Catherine Taylor was placed first by the judges and Helen Keck was awarded second mention.

The Girl Scouts wish to thank Rufus Patterson for being so kind as to let them have a store room on East Washington street free of charge. They also wish to thank all persons who helped in the bake sale.

President, In Somber Dress Alone At Easter Ceremony

WASHINGTON, April 9.—President Coolidge attended the First Congregational church without the members of his family on Easter day.

The lady of the White House, who is wont to accompany him to church and stage a little one-woman style show of her own, was not by his side. She is still in Massachusetts with her mother, who is ill. Their son, John, is with Mrs. Coolidge.

The President was in somber morning clothes. Close behind him were the only White House guests, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston. They came in another car. But if Mrs. Coolidge did not personally lend her vivid charm to the lovely Easter service, she was present "in spirit" in the lilies that lined the chancel rail.

Dr. Jason Noble Pierce, the pastor, made mention of that fact without calling names.

"Some of these flowers were sent by a member who is far away at the bedside of her beloved mother," he said.

Government hospitals about the city, too, received lilies from the absent first lady.

The church service was simple and beautiful. Mr. Coolidge looked on with interest when five babies were baptized and a dozen men and women received into the church. But he never joins in the congregational singing—leaving that to Mrs. Coolidge.

The rest of the presidential Easter was quiet and uneventful—a walk in the afternoon and dinner at seven o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Stearns being the only guests.

Mr. Coolidge's church-going created as much public interest as if Mrs. Coolidge had been with him. Crowds surged around the church entrance long before 11 o'clock, held in check by a police line. The same crowd was there when Mr. Coolidge and his guests left the building more than an hour later.

New charm, new beauty by a morning drink

Do you realize how much beauty how much charm depends on inner cleanliness.

Do you know how poisons and wastes in the system affect your complexion, your fitness, your vivacity?

Then do this in the morning—or any time—when you know that poisons need elimination. Drink a glass of water, hot or cold. Add a little "Epsonade." It will make a sparkling drink.

The effect is to flush the intestines in a way pleasant, prompt and gentle. Results usually appear in an hour. And they come from the acids of lemon and grape.

Don't wait for delayed effects. Keep at your best. Correct wrong conditions quickly.

Let a trial of "Epsonade" show what this means to you. Get a small quantity at small cost, at your druggists.

Small Girl Is Struck By Auto

Not Seriously Hurt According To Report Made To Police Officers

Esther Lerner of 409 East Reynolds street reported to the police Sunday that she was driving east on East Washington street and making a left hand turn onto Adams street, when a small girl, standing with her mother on the south side of Adams street, across the street from the Third U. P. church, broke away from her mother and was hit by the right front fender of the Lerner car. She was knocked backwards to the pavement. The mother and child were standing between two cars parked at the side of Adams street, when the child ran into the Lerner machine. The little girl was apparently not hurt to any great extent and her mother declined to have her taken to a physician, stating that she would do so herself.

E. H. Albon, New Castle R. D. 9, reported that he had his machine parked near the Croton school house on Croton avenue when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 10-693 going south on Croton avenue, skidded into and damaged his car.

Robert D. Griffiths of 605 South Ray street reported Sunday that he was driving east on West Washington street at Shenango street when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 975-631 going south on Shenango street made a left hand turn onto West Washington street and the two machines came together. Some damage was done.

Listen! Girls!

He Likes to Hold a Soft, Velvety Hand

Not a Nutmeg Grater

What man ever got a thrill out of holding rough, scratchy hands? And what girl isn't ashamed of them? So don't neglect them—not when it's so easy to keep them always soft, lovely and alluring in looks and touch. All you have to do is to rub Joint-Ease on them, working it in and between the fingers for two or three minutes until it is absorbed and you'll hardly be able to believe your eyes, so smooth and silky textured will they become. Try this two times a week and you'll always be the possessor of hands you are proud to show. Joint-Ease is obtainable at all druggists. Only 60c a tube. McKee's Kut Rate Store and Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., are selling lots of it.

Auditor General To Speak Tonight

Edward Martin Will Address Grove City Citizens On Taxation Tonight

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 9.—General Edward Martin, auditor general of Pennsylvania, will speak on the subject "Pennsylvania and Taxation" at the Carnegie auditorium this evening. The meeting will be held under the joint auspices of the Women's Civic club and the Grove City Commercial club.

All organizations and the general public are cordially invited, and no charge will be made. The address will be non-political and will deal with matters of interest to every citizen. In his capacity as auditor general he has made a close study of taxation problems and his message to Grove City residents should be highly educational.

The meeting which was announced for this evening at 8 o'clock in the K. of C. home will be held at 7:30 at the request of the members.

Special Offer to Victims of Gas and Chronic Indigestion

Love & Megown Says Pleasant to Take, Elixir Must Help Poor Distressed Stomach or Money Gladly Refunded.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness that you think your heart is going to stop beating.

Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gaspy.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done.

Just one tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsin and in ten minutes the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have chronic indigestion at all?

Especially when Love & Megown or any druggist anywhere guarantees Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a pleasant elixir, to end indigestion, acute or chronic, or money back.

Anti-Injunction Bills Likely To Die In Congress

With Congress Nearing Close, Organized Labor's Fight Appears Lost

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Organized labor's fight to curb the power of federal judges in the issuance of anti-strike injunctions apparently has been lost in the present session of Congress.

Although refusing to concede defeat, backers of the many anti-injunction bills in both Senate and House today exhibited little hope of decisive action before adjournment.

With adjournment but a few weeks away and a big legislative calendar piling up, anti-injunction bills were still being held in committees in both Senate and House.

The enactment of an anti-injunction bill was announced as labor's major demand upon the present Congress and one of the few bills which President Green of the American Federation of Labor and other labor leaders declared were vital to the labor movement.

Penn State Raises Standard Of Study

Re-examinations Are Abolished At School By Trustees Ruling

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 9.—Scholastic standards at Penn State have taken another step forward in the approval of the board of trustees of the elimination of re-examinations for students, it was learned today at the offices of President Ralph D. Hetzel.

Beginning next fall, when a student fails to attain a passing grade in any course of study, he will have to repeat the subject the next year or semester, according to the new ruling. Students themselves have been convinced of the scholastic good of the new ruling, and while it may mean delay in the graduation of some, undergraduates welcome the incentive toward better classroom effort. There will be but one standard and a failure means a repetition of the course of study.

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 9.—Megan a deBourbon Sigmaringen, European princess, will exhibit her prize feline, "Lindbergh", at the annual dog and cat show to be held here April 20 and 21.

The cat, winner of numerous ribbons in Baltimore and Washington, was born last May 21 in Geneva, Switzerland.

SUSPECT ASSASSIN IS UNDER ARREST

HUNTINGDON, Pa., April 9. — An all-day search by state and county police, supplemented by 200 citizens, resulted last night in the arrest of Charles Lyble, alleged assassin of John Paul Drake, 42, an industrious citizen of Mount Union, who was shot and killed in the street near his home Friday night. J. K. Wiley, a neighbor attracted to his front door by the shooting, escaped a similar fate by the assassin's pistol jamming. The murderer, who accompanied a young woman, Hazel Gloss, made his escape to the mountains, where he was tracked.

HARD BOILED EASTER YEGGS BLOW SAFE

STEUBENVILLE, O., April 9.—Yeggs made an Easter morning haul at two business houses here, blowing one safe and cracking another. Police checkup indicates the robbers obtained $500 from the Cooper-Kline dry goods store safe, which was opened by smashing the combination. About the same amount of cash was taken at May & Leopold's furniture store, where the safe was blown.

The Cooper-Kline store is within a few yards of the police station.

Police To Use Tear-Gas Maces

DONORA, Pa., April 9.—Local criminals who may barricade themselves against law and order in the future will find this borough's police prepared to combat them with scientific methods.

Council at a recent meeting ordered tear gas maces after a demonstration of their efficiency was staged. The demonstration was so effective that the next day traces of the gas were still evident about the borough building.

Using Blankets Convict Escapes Lackawanna Jail

Notorious Prisoner, Escaped Ohio Penitentiary, Inmate Breaks Jail

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., April 9.—Using blankets from his bed as a rope, John Hopkins, 26, notorious criminal, who escaped from the Ohio state penitentiary at Columbus January 27, made his escape from the Lackawanna county jail early today.

His absence was not discovered until roll call. A general alarm was sounded, but Hopkins was still at large eight hours after he made his getaway.

Hopkins and his brother, Julian, 24, were sentenced to two years each in the Eastern penitentiary a week ago for conspiracy to dynamite a Scranton silk mill. Julian is also wanted in Huntington, W. Va., for burglary and his wife was turned over to Harrisburg police more than a month ago on a theft charge.

Both Julian and John Hopkins were to have been removed to the Eastern penitentiary. Julian made no effort to escape.

Council Rejects Bids On Paving

New Bids To Be Asked For Paving Of South Jefferson Street

Council today rejected all bids submitted for the paving of South Jefferson street between Terrace and Long avenue, and the city engineer was directed to prepare new plans and specifications which will ask bids for combination brick and concrete paving.

The low bidders were M. J. Scanlon for concrete and Olsen company for brick.

No provision for brick and concrete combination was contained in the specifications.

It is said that hillside brick is desired on the hill and the city clerk has been directed to ask for new bids.

Council's action took place during their formal session at city hall this morning.

According to Councilman D. O Davies there are several churches and one school along the street and the paving is necessary.

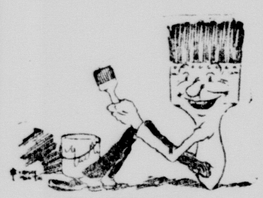

Bail Of $10,000 In Liquor Case

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., April 9.—Bail in the case of Leo Kifer of Farrell was fixed at $10,000 in the Mercer county court this morning and was furnished by five Farrell residents.

Kifer was arrested in 1925 on a liquor charge and bail in his case was furnished in the sum of $1,500. The bail was forfeited. Kifer was residing in Ohio since, but recently was arrested when crossing the state line and held on the old charge.

The bail was fixed at the highest sum that has ever been set in a liquor charge in Mercer county because of the previous forfeiture.

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELEN E RUBINSTEIN
Noted Beauty Expert

Above is pictured an exercise to develop balance and co-ordination; as described by Mme. Rubinstein; be low, illustrates a "rocking horse" movement beneficial for shoulders, back, arms and stomach muscles.

RHYTHM FOR POISE

This is really a summing up of all my past articles on rhythmics. I need hardly go back to my original theme—the importance of poise and graciousness of a cool, calm mind and a quiet, controlled body. Charm is poise, I think. Perhaps not all of it, but certainly a major part. And poise is doing the natural thing in a graceful way. Doing it, as Mordkin says—with all of you. Your mind, of course, your voice and your body, too. That is rhythm.

"Consider the greatest artists," explained Mordkin; "the great singers, the great actresses and musicians.

The singers who holds her audience in the hollow of her hand is the one who sings not with the voice alone, but with the soul, the expression, and the body, too.

"You have often seen a musician holding a violin quite still, but his body was first tensed, then relaxed, dramatic and restful in turn. You can almost feel the vibration! Dancers of the ballet tell stories with their bodies, they express every possible emotion through purely physical media. Dancing is not only the technique of moving arms and legs, but the response of every muscle. The body, too, must be expressive, or else the idea is only one-half alive."

How to arrive at this physical co-ordination is another thing. It takes repetition, relaxation, exercise and music.

But, as I have told you, it can be easily done if you train your lagging muscles into a strict accounting of themselves.

A child begins early in life to develop muscular control. His first movements are no more than convulsive muscle twitching. But watch the way Nature teaches the little one to use every muscle—first the fingers, then the legs—soon toes and stomach and neck and head are all moving aimlessly.

After a little while the instinct of co-ordination develops—the mind directs and the body obeys. By the time the child is three, its body is in exquisite harmony. I don't believe in all my life I have ever seen a very little child making an ungraceful movement. Why, they even tumble in curves!

Later it isn't quite so easy to be active enough to continue this superb perfection. Whole groups of muscles, become lazy—and then we have the awkward age—legs one way and arms another. Hands become all thumbs. The poise of childhood is irrevocably lost.

It is that very lovely attribute that rhythmics will bring back. They are valuable for every muscle in the body. None is too small or too deeply padded in layers of fat to escape the stimulating, energizing power of these aesthetic exercises.

Gallows Taming Illinois Terrorist

Courage Goes From Charlie Birger As He Faces Execution Friday

BENTON, Ill., April 9.—The joviality and courage with which he mocked the law is gone from "Machine Gun" Charlie Birger, once the most feared terrorist of southern Illinois.

On Friday, April 13, he is scheduled to go to the gallows.

The light hearted cheerfulness of the man who once held southern Illinois under the sway of his beer running gangsters has given way to waiting. The swarthy gang chief who once defied officers to serve a murder warrant and who carried a machine gun into his cell for protection when he finally surrendered, is silent.

"Cheer up, boys. Don's be so sad," he said to his friends when they brought word to him a few weeks ago that he must die for the murder of Joe Adams of West City.

Mayor Adams paid with his life for siding with the Shelton gang, Birger's arch anemies and rivals for the bootleg trade of southern Illinois.

Birger seemed then to have little fear of death.

But Friday the supreme court denied a rehearing of his case and the failure of the last legal move left him silent and resigned.

Today, it appeared, all the bravado had fled.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Later Career Of Buffalo Bill

IN THE SIOUX WARS OF THE "SEVENTIES" BUFFALO BILL (WILLIAM F. CODY) ROSE TO FAME AS CHIEF OF SCOUTS OF THE ARMY IN THE WEST. NEARLY EVERY AMERICAN OF THAT DAY WAS FAMILIAR WITH THE EXPLOITS OF "LUCRETIA BORGIA", AS CODY LOVINGLY CALLED HIS RIFLE.

AT VARIOUS TIMES IN HIS CAREER, BUFFALO BILL HELD PUBLIC OFFICE. FOR SOME TIME HE WAS TOWN MARSHAL OF A TURBULENT FRONTIER SETTLEMENT. HIS REPUTATION AS A DEADSHOT HELPED TO PRESERVE ORDER, AND ON ONE OCCASION HE UPHELD THE MAJESTY OF THE LAW WITH HIS FISTS.

ONCE, WHEN SERVING AS A JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, HE WAS CALLED UPON TO PERFORM A MARRIAGE CEREMONY. CODY WAS EMBARRASSED. HE STARTLED ALL PRESENT BY CONCLUDING WITH THE SOLEMN PRONOUNCEMENT, "WHOM GOD AND BUFFALO BILL HATH JOINED LET NO MAN PUT ASUNDER."

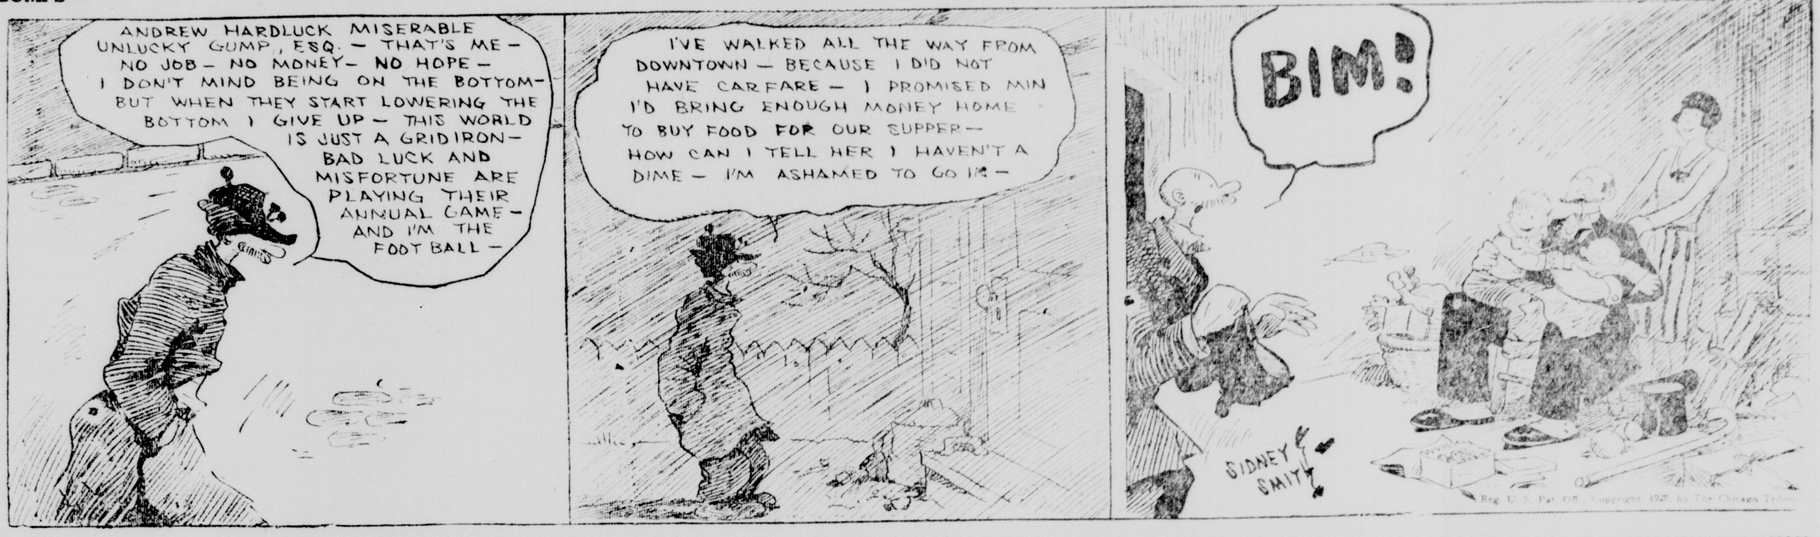

A PLAINSMAN NAMED WILLIAM COMSTOCK ONCE DISPUTED CODY'S RIGHT TO THE NAME "BUFFALO BILL". TO SETTLE THE ARGUMENT THE TWO STAGED A BUFFALO-SHOOTING CONTEST AT SHERIDAN, KANSAS. CODY KILLED 56 BUFFALOES TO HIS OPPONENT'S 37, AND WON THE TITLE OF THE MIGHTIEST HUNTER OF THE PLAINS.

BILLY SUNDAY TO BOX FRANKIE RIO

Conrad To Meet Johnny Hanlon

Elmo, Fink, Rini, McManos, George And Peret To Appear Here

FIVE BOUTS CARDED FOR TUESDAY NIGHT

By ED. FRITZ

Billy Sunday is coming to New Castle Tuesday night and when he enters the Jolly Fistic circus ring at the Old Armory, fistic fans will readily see that he is a Sunday with a pugilistic coating rather than the renowned Sunday of the Sawdust trail.

The said Sunday is coming here to box Frankie Rio, the Cleveland phantom in the grand finale of a fistic entertainment that will have five acts. Two of the acts will be for four rounds and the remaining three will call for six frames.

Promoter Bill Jolly, the head ringmaster of the Jolly Fistic circus carded Sunday for a New Castle appearance after Young Stewart calculated that an evening spent with Frankie Rio has caused no particular good for any of Frankie's opponents.

Rio Has Made Good

He told the ringmaster that he didn't have the time to meander around a rosin-littered ring and for fear William didn't understand Akron English told him "Go get someone else." Jolly got Sunday who is said to be a couple of punches and steps better than Stewart.

Rio has fought here half dozen times. He has fought for $25 and $100. He hasn't asked any mercy nor given any quarters. When he battles in Toledo, Columbus and Akron he draws $175 and as high as $300, but Frankie likes the New Castle boys.

He is being brought by Jimmie Dunn who is interested in reviving boxing here. Dunn was reared here and likes to show his boys. He has never yet quibilled over terms and Bill Jolly recently said: "Dunn has done more to revive boxing here than any of us."

Conrad To Cut Loose

Dunn intends to let Eddie Conrad cut loose against Frankie Florenza or Johnny Hanlon, whatever name you choose to call him. Conrad has fought 89 times and has been a winner in 68 bouts. He is meeting no set-up in Florenza who has changed his name to Hanlon.

During his first appearance here Conrad broke his hand. In the second bout he took the battle to save the card, despite the fact his hand had not mended. He won again ,but Tuesday night he will be able to let his hand fly as hard as possible.

Hanlon is a tough, game, aggressive lad. He is quick to take advantage of the breaks and will probably go after Conrad. When Hanlon fought Jimmie Kirkpatrick at Youngstown he did not let Jimmie rest, not even for a second and won by a big margin.

Three Other Action Bouts

He will have different sledding with Conrad who is as clever and can punch as hard as Frankie Rio. This fight should be as good as any main bout the fans have seen here this season.

Johnny Rini, former amateur of Cleveland, will box Young McManos of Pittsburgh, in the first six round go. They are rugged and there should be action galore in this battle.

Elmo The Mighty and Jack Fink, light-heavyweight rivals wil clash in a four rounder and Mickie George and "Lulu" Peret will open the show.

It seldom happens that a man gets crooked in office. A big crook is simply a little crook given large opportunities.

Kindly note to Mr. Lowden: It is a large country, and it's impossible to be elected on one grievance.

Dilks Preparing To Show His Heels

Forced To Walk By Inflamed Tendon; Has Money, Trainer, Health And Heart

In Long Grind, From Coast-To-Coast

By ED. FRITZ

Earle Lin Dilks is carrying on in the Coast-to-Coast derby and providing that condition and heart counts he will not be found lagging behind the few who will flash their heels when the derby runners reach Chicago.

Recently Dilks had an inflamed tendon in his right leg and on the advice of Arthur Newton, the great British runner, who after being forced out of the race by an injury was retained as an adviser, walked, to give the tendon a chance to heal.

When the Dilks boosters organization was formed by J. Garfield Davis, W. R. Rhodes, Ed. McMillen, Ed. Raney, Jack Lewis, Trainmaster Thomas, Fred Rentz, Alec Samuels and was born with the support of New Castle citizens, it put more heart in Dilks.

And when the organization wired him that the citizens were behind him 100 per cent in the long, long grind, through hot sands, chill winds, rain-swept areas, the local runner gritted his teeth, unmindful of pain, and kept running.

As soon as the organization asked him what he needed the runner wrote that he needed money to buy care and clothing and now that $200 has been sent him he has good running shoes, woolen clothing to keep him from contracting illness and a trainer.

Watches Him Closely.

The trainer will keep a close eye on Dilks along the road to see that fatigue will not affect him as it has other runners. The trainer will watch over him so that he will know the course, every inch, foot, yard and mile.

And when he jogs into the "control station" at night, the trainer will rush him into a hot bath, follow with a cold shower then give him a "rub-down" which will ease his tired muscles and allow him to drop off in peaceful sleep.

When the gong sounds in the morning and the three or four score of foot racers start off with the crack of the pistol, among the first to leave the "scratch" will be Earl Lin Dilks of New Castle, who is fighting courageously to win the long grind.

There have been tales of the runners of long ago, of the men who heralded the tidings around the world when newspapers were nil, but these runners have all been eclipsed by the event that now is being staged the most punishing test in history of athletics.

Letter From Dilks.

J. Garfield Davis, as president of the Dilks boosters organization has received a letter from Dilks and though the committee invites every man and woman in the city to meet at the Elks' club tonight, he handed the letter to the writer for publication:—

His letter under date of Tucumcari, New Mexico, April 2, 1928, follows:—

"I have to thank you for your telegrams, the second of which I received yesterday. I must alologize for any delay in replying as we runners of course have very little time for anything but moving along the road and this is what all New Castle expects me to do.

"So I got a friend (one of the officials) to type a letter for me from dictation and shall avail myself of his services whenever I can. I have already arranged to get off a wire to you saying 'I think $200 needed for immediate expenses. Am writing'."

(This letter was written on the day the Boosters wired Dilks asking him where to send him financial aid so he could get a trainer and other necessary care. He got the telegram, replied and already has received $200).

Accompanies Dilks.

"I have fixed up with a temporary trainer who will travel along the road with me and see to my requirements. Arthur Newton will arrange for my bath and bed each night—an office the trainer cannot undertake as every room in every town we get to is booked up long before the trainers can arrive as they have to look after their men on the road.

"In addition to this I must at once get a new outfit of shoes and woolen clothes; the latter are particularly necessary in the rainy districts, if colds and other troubles are to be avoided. (Here Dilks says 'this paper is torn by the wind as it is being typed in the open').

"For some days now I have been troubled with an inflammation of the tendon in the left shin and with Mr. Newton's advice I have been walking to give it a chance to recover. It is already on the way toward being well and I shall very shortly be able to get along again in the old style.

Health Condition Good.

"You will be pleased to hear that so far as health and condition go, I am as fit as any man in the race. Perhaps your first telegram had something to do with this, for there is no doubt I have been a happier and more confident man, ever since, though of course in any case, I meant to go through with it if only because I knew that a New Castle man could stand as much as any man from anywhere else.

"However, thanks to my hometown and to those who undertook the organization of the all my really serious troubles have been removed and I now stand an equal chance with all as I am able to enjoy facilities which were unobtainable before.

Grateful To Citizens.

"I feel sure you can understand how thoroughly grateful I am and trust you will acquaint my fellow citizens of the fact."

During the past few days the ranks of the derbyists have been depleted and some of the better known among the runners have faded out but Dilks is still going and tonight the Dilks boosters organization will meet at the Elks' club and every citizen, man or woman, is invited to be present.

Ruth And Gehrig Clout Homers As Yankees Triumph

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 9.— Twenty thousand supporters of the New York Yankees are convinced today for the first time that the home run twins, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, have regained the ability to sock homers which carried them to record heights last season. They saw Babe and Buster deliver circuit clouts which beat the Brooklyn Robins yesterday, 7 to 3. Dugan of the Yanks and Max Carey of the Robins also hit for four bases.

The series, now deadlocked, will be resumed in Brooklyn today.

Giants To Play West Pointers

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 9.—The New York Giants will demonstrate some real heavy artillery to the West Point nine here today. Frank O'Doul's triple gave the New Yorkers an 8 to 6 victory over the Senators in the fourteenth inning at Washington yesterday.

Uncle Tom's Jabbin' By Feg Murray

Once more a rough, tough man from Australasia will get a chance at the world's heavyweight title, opposing, as did the immortal Fitzsimmons, a dancing, scientific boxer whose specialty is a left jab. And, it might also be mentioned, the master boxers, Corbett, whom Fitz beat, and Tunney, whom Heeney will try to beat, each won his title from a slugging mankiller. But if there is an analogy in John L. Sullivan and Jack Dempsey, and Jim Corbett and Gene Tunney, it does not therefore hold that Tom Heeney is a second Bob Fitzsimmons. Not by a jugful!

"Honest Tom" Heeney, rugged, plodding, courageous fighter that he is, lacks two things that go to make a great heavyweight—color and punch. Perhaps the one depends on the other. At any rate, he has fought one less than 30 rounds since coming to this country, against eight different opponents, and has been able to knock out only two rivals, Charlie Anderson and Jim Maloney. Seventy-three dreary rounds against Paulino, Jack de Mave, Bud Gorman, Risko, Sharkey and Delaney, without the slightest semblance of a knockout.

Compare this coming championship bout with the last two international heavyweight battles, the Dempsey-Carpentier and the Dempsey-Firpo fights. Each reeked with color, for, besides the element of an international battle, both champion and challenger were unusual in their make-up and accomplishments, both within and without the ring. "Tunney and everyone else will know there's been a fight going on," said Tom Heeney, in Paris, when informed that he was elected as the logical contender. But what he didn't say, and what most everybody knows, is that the reason Tunney picked him is because Tom, with his short arms and lack of effectiveness at long- range boxing, will be easiest to defeat of any of the challengers.

Unorthodox fighters like Risko or Paulino can make anybody look bad, even a Tunney.

Feg Murray Says—

BENNY BENGOUGH

Benny Bengough, New York Yankee catcher and the pride of Niagara Falls, N. Y., is one of the most inconsistent boys when it comes to handling the hickory that the major leagues have known in a long time.

In 1923 Mr. Bengough hit for the miserable mark of .132. In 1926 he hit for .381.

Since joining the Yankees, in 1923, he has hit in the following order: .132, .312, .258, .381 and .247. This season Benny's due to hit in the .308 ranks again, it seems.

Select All-Star Players In Boy's League At Y.M.C.A.

Acmes Given Three Places On First Team; Indians And Aces Draw One

The boys' league at the Y. M. C. A. enjoyed a very successful season this year. The schedule was only concluded a few days ago.

It was a rather hard job to select the best players in the loop for the three all-star teams, due to the calibre of the individuals that helped to make the circuit a success.

A. Uram and McLaughlin were the two best forwards in the league, according to those who witnessed the majority of the games. Both boys are fast and are uncanny shots and were towers of strength to their respective teams. Alexander, the big tall Acme center, is the first team pick. Soyring of the Aces and Blaha of the Acmes were the two best guards in the league. Blaha was perhaps the outstanding guard and was a big help to the Acmes.

On the second team Pollack and Uber draw the places at forward. Both boys are just as good as the first team pick, but they are not quite as big. Lutz is given the center job, and N. Uram and Jones draw the guard positions.

Following are the selections:

First Team.

A Uram, Indians, forward.
McLaughlin, Acme, forward.
Alexander, Acmes, center.
Soyring, Aces, guard.
Blaha, Acmes, guard.

Second Team.

Pollack, Acmes, forward.
Uber, Celtics, forward.
Lutz, Castles, center.
N. Uram, Indians, guard.
A. Jones, Acmes, guard.

Third Team.

Weir, Aces, forward.
DiMuccio, Smiths' forward.
C. Smith, Indians, center.
Colaluca, Elks, guard.
Kelley, Celtics, guard.

Honorable mention—F. DiThomas, F. Shafer, C. Yeager, G. Chambers, G. Shook, F. Morgan.

Athletics Will Face Phillies For Sixth Time

Philadelphia City Series Will End Today; Athletics Are Series Winners

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 9.—The Athletics and Phillies clash again today in the sixth and final game of the city series in which the A's have won four of the five games played, thus giving them the city championship for another year. The Yankees are coming Wednesday, however, so the game today should put the Mackmen in trim for the season's opener.

The Athletics made a trip to Baltimore yesterday, trouncing the Orioles, 3 to 1, while the Phils visited Jersey City and trimmed the Skeeters, 6 to 0.

Augie Walsh, rookie hurler, will toe the mound for the Phils today, while Rube Walberg will go on duty for the A's.

Tom Heeney Enjoying Visit To Paris, Has Dropped His Modesty

Australian Heavyweight Declares That He Will Flatten Gene Tunney

Parisians Fail To See Much Of Heeney Until Word Of Tunney Bout Arrives

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, April 9.—According to confidential advices from the scene of action, Tom Heeney, the willing opponent, has been having a very enjoyable visit in Paris since the news became rampant that he had been named as brother Tunney's man for the next public demonstration in heavyweight circles. I don't know, as matter of fact, whether Heeney still is in Paris or has returned to England but, in my general uncertainty on this point, I am not altogether different from the Parisiens themselves they have experienced a certain amount of difficulty in seeing a great deal of the young man.

Heeney got quite a break when they told him he was to go in there for an eighth of a million and the exclusive rights to brother Tunney's fist full of knuckles. In this case, one break led to another, for it seems that Heeney was headed for Paris when the news came. If he hadn't been very careful about it, the news might have arrived while he was on his way to East Orange.

Anyhow, the tidings in question naturally left him feeling somewhat jocular and, from what I have been able to gether, nothing has happened in Paris to alter the situation. The young man still was far from depressed when last heard from. He was disporting himself in a very chic swimming pool somewhere on or near the Champs Elysees to the accompaniment of admiring cries of "tres jolie" from the populace.

Previous to that occasion, the correspondents had succeeded in running a dead heat with Mr. Heeney only at isolated and very temporary junctures. In brief, they found many difficulties at all times but Mr. Heeney very seldom.

Drops Modesty

I note with pained incredulity, too, that the tenor of Thomas' remarks has altered and for the worse. Previously, he was the soul of self-abnegation, a shrinking fellow who disliked publicity and son spoke of his art in an appealing deprecating manner.

"I'm not much of a fighter, but what of it?" he seemed to imply, and while you agreed with him on both points, you admired his finger nails and the way he did his hair or something. Anyhow, you felt that a man who talked about himself in that sotto voce manner ought to be stood back from and admired at regular intervals.

But now my faith is ravished. Thomas has chucked the charming role of modesty and is talking like a chief second. If the advices are to be believed, he has declared for "flattening Tunney" and even has promised to give every deserving candidate a shot at the title when he is champion.

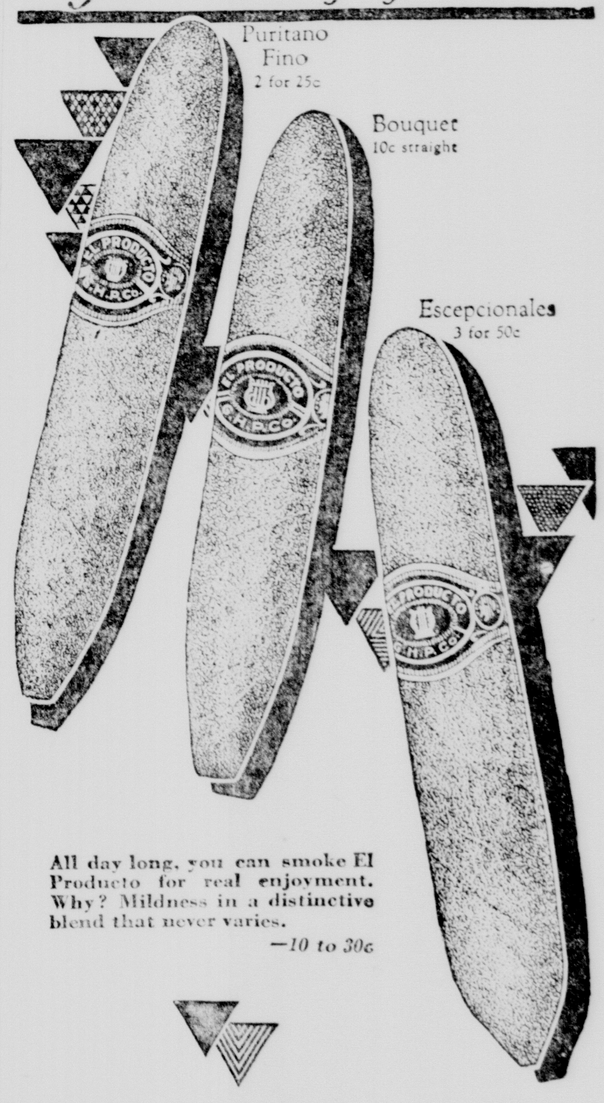

Maybe Thomas is only being himself at least but I can't forgive him for trifling with my juvenile illusions at that. Here I have been looking at him for months and never realized that he had it in him to talk as good a fight as anyone in the division.

The Democrats seem to have an excellent chance to get the Republican goat, which does not necessarily mean that they will know how to keep it or what to do with it.—Nashville Banner.

Exceptional Musical Programs Feature Easter Sunday Here

ELLWOOD CITY, April 9.—Exceptionally well-prepared musical programs were presented on Easter Sunday in the local churches here.

Trinity Lutheran.

The cantata entitled "The Crucifixion" by John Stainer, was presented in the Lutheran church Sunday evening by a robed choir of 30 voices. Robert Taylor of New Wilmington directed and carried out the tenor solo numbers, assisted by a guest basso, Arthur Hulbert of New Wilmington. Other solo numbers were taken by J. W. Blocher and B. J. Bell. During the offertory Mrs. Thelma Schenck contributed a lovely soprano solo entitled "The Resurrection."

U. P. Church.

Sunday evening in the United Presbyterian church members of the choir under the direction of Mr. Metcalf of New Castle, presented a two-part cantata entitled "The Resurrection." This was a musical tale of the dramatic incidents in Christ's life and beautifully presented. Solo parts were taken by A. W. Drennan, Miss Bregar, Mrs. Leibendorfer, Mrs. Ketterer and a trio selection by Mrs. Leibendorfer, Mrs. Moyer and Miss McKim.

Presbyterian.

Members of the Presbyterian church quartet presented Shelly's famous "From Death to Life" Sunday afternoon in the place of the regular vesper service. Mrs. Mellor, soprano, carried most of the vocal numbers and never seemed in better voice. At the morning service a group of new members were received into the church by Rev. Stevenson.

Methodist Church.

At the Methodist church Sunday evening members of the choir presented the Easter cantata "The Thorn Crowned King" under the direction of Mrs. Esther Griffith. A musical story of the risen Christ, it was well presented in the choruses and through the mediums of the following soloists: Miss Ella Cox, Mrs. Derry Porter, Mrs. C. P. Cloak, Miss Irene White, Edward Spencer, Harold Burns, Lawrence Fox and John Brown. At the morning service a soprano solo was given by Mrs. H. E. Helling.

Christian Church.

A program of choruses, recitations and songs made up the diversified program presented by the Christian church. Many members of the Sunday school contributed recitations and songs, making a delightful program of appropriate numbers for the Easter season. Mrs. W. F. Aiken and Mrs. George Hess were in charge of the program and Rev. C. G. Hufler pronounced the benediction at the close.

Baptist Church.

The song story "Judith" was presented by the members of the Sunday school of the Baptist church, assisted by the choir, Sunday morning. The cantata was well presented and was a song story with intermingling choruses, duets and solos. The scenes were laid in Joseph's garden and at the close of each musical number a voice was heard explaining the theme in continuation. At the evening service there was special music by the choir and a large class was received in baptism.

St. Agatha Church.

The feast of Easter observance in St. Agatha's church was observed at 8 and 10 a. m. masses. At the 10 o'clock mass special devotional rubrical musical ceremonies were presented by a male choir opening with the prelude "Awake My Soul." The musical numbers were well handled and the choir was assisted by the organ and orchestra.

Every auditorium was filled to overflowing at all Sunday services, and 48 young members of the Cathetetical class of the Trinity Lutheran church attended the communion table for the first time Sunday morning at the 10:45 service.

Wurtemburg Club Presents Easter Cantata Sunday

ELLWOOD CITY, April 9.—Thirty members of the Wurtemburg Community club Choral society presented an Easter program Sunday afternoon in the Methodist church of Wurtemburg under the direction of Mrs. Emmet Leibendorfer.

The auditorium of the church was filled to capacity, and all enjoyed the program which contained solos, quartettes and chorus numbers, featuring Mrs. Elmer Blair and Carl Ketterer. The spirit of the day was prevelant throughout the program, and the society is to be congratulated on its successful presentation.

Providence Baptist Observes Easter

ELLWOOD CITY, April 9—The Easter spirit was well sustained in the Providence Baptist church Sunday morning with exercises, recitations and songs by beginners and primaries. Four young men gave minute talks on "The Great Co-operative Program of Missions.'

The Hazen family quartet sang "Christ on the Cross." Miss Vesta Householder contributed an appealing recitation depicting in drama the sorrow of the Magdalene at the foot of the cross, the visit to the sepulchre and the joy at meeting the risen Christ.

The address "If There Were no Easter" was given by the pastor Rev. J. R. Routledge. The exercises concluded with an instructive Missionary pageant entitled "The Three Boxes." The characters were: The Candy Box, Rebecca Hazen; The Powder Box, Mrs. Clarence Gillespie and the Missionary Mite Box, Mrs. G. N. Hazen. The program was directed by Miss Rebecca Hazen with Miss Iva Hazen accompanying.

Impressive Costume Program At Park Gate Baptist Church

ELLWOOD CITY, April 9.—The Park Gate Baptist church usual Easter festival was conducted Sunday evening with an overflow audience in attendance.

A program of exercises by scholars of the Sunday school including all classes from the beginners to the adults included recitations, songs and drills. The climax was a realistic portrayal of scenes near the cross, the garden, the empty sepulchre, the angels and the resurrection joy all depicted in costume. Crusaders told of the fulfilling of the great commission, loyalty, allegiance and equipment for service. Altogether the cantata and tableaus were vivid and realistic, reflecting much credit on those responsible.

Rev. J. R. Routledge pastor gave an inspiring address, appealing to all to foster the resurrection spirit and joy. Superintendent Mrs. C. Dallenbach directed the program and Caleb Evans accompanied at the piano.

EMERGENCY BOXES SHOOTING SPARKS

ELLWOOD CITY, April 9.—A report came in to the Motor club that the highway emergency call boxes on the chewton road were throwing off sparks probably caused from a short circuit somewhere. This was noticed on Sunday. Upon receiving the report the club notified the telephone company, whose duty it is to rectify the damage, which was no doubt caused by recent storms.

Man And Girl Are Placed In Custody, Held For Murder

Man Claims Killing Took Place When Slurring Remark Was Made About Girl

(International News Service)

HUNTINGDON, Pa., April 9.—Charles Lytle, 45, and Miss Hazel Gloss, 16, were under arrest today in connection with the slaying of John Paul Drake near his home in Mount Union Friday night.

The arrests were made last night following an intensive search by state police and a posse of about 200 citizens. Police announced that both Lytle and the girl had confessed the slaying, Lytle declaring that he killed Drake when he made a slurring remark to Miss Gloss. The young woman denied this, police said, maintaining that the slaying was "deliberate and unprovoked."

Drake was shot to death as he walked past Lytle and Miss Gloss on the street at Mount Union, police said.

Lambs To The Shearing

Record Share Days On Exchange, Rumors Of Vast Profits, Draw Uninitiated Thousands To Stock Speculation—Only To "Pay The Bill"

By CLARK KINNARD
Staff Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

NEW YORK, April 9.—Stock market speculation now is a national sport. Wall street is as long as Main street. In the current activity in the street traders from Seattle, the Bronx, Cuba, Portland, Me.; Brooklyn, Lexington, Ky.; Park avenue and Limping Buffalo, Okla., are figuratively operating shoulder to shoulder. In the whirlpool are the bank accounts of millionaires and the savings of pastors, bootblacks, taxi drivers, stenographers, 10-cent store girls, railroad engineers, music teachers, widows and reporters.

It is the last named group, the lambs, who now are paying for the big show. The last ones in the market, they are the first ones out. Hypnotized by newspaper headlines and wild chatter of successful or would-be successful speculators, they push their hoardings into the market after the professional operators have started things going and are ready to take their profit. Some of the professionals are caught in the beginning as shorts, having sold something they didn't have, but in the end it is the lambs, the outsiders who leap into the game without knowing a thing about it, who pay the bill.

Brokers Never Lose

But the only persons in Wall street who never lose are the brokers. They don't speculate. Many concerns require that partners and important employes make a solemn oath not to dabble in the market. The brokers get commissions for buying and selling. They have a monopoly on trade, for only members may buy and sell in the Stock Exchange, and the number of members, 1,100, is unchanging.

A seat on the Exchange now sells for from $350,000 to $400,000, but one isn't worth a dime as a place to rest. Owners of seats never get to sit down. They're on their feet in a pandemonium of activity from the time the Exchange opens, at 10 a. m., until it closes at three p. m.

Agitation for More Seats

The succession of 4,000,000-share days in the Exchange have caused renewal of agitation for the creation of more memberships, or the delegation of certain duties of floor members to assistants. Traders have collapsed from overwork in the activity around Post No. 5, where General Motors stock is auctioned, or around No. 20, the center of Radio Corporation exchanges. Theirs is a profession which an error of word or gesture may cost thousands of dollars and upset a market.

Nevertheless, first visit to the Stock Exchange is likely to be disappointing. A visit, by the way, must be arranged through a member. The visitor's gallary isn't open to all and sundry. Photographers are forbidden to make pictures during a session, but a cameraman occasionally evades the rule, working without a flashlight.

Excitement Confusing

The commotion is such that from the visitors' gallery the uninitiated sightseer finds it difficult to tell what the excitement is about. Around 20 or 25 trading posts, each with its special stocks, eddying groups shout and make motions. One broker raises his hand and utters a few words, or signals with his fingers. Another, in response, raised a hand in acknowledgement. Then both make notations on a pad. A sale has been made. Stock worth thousands has changed hands.

In a fragment of a second after a deal is made the news is being flashed by ticker in brokerage offices all over the country. Private wires link these offices with New York and the Exchange. Oakland, Cal., and Berlin, Germany, and Muscatine, Ia., buy and sell in the twinkling of an eye. Yes, Berlin. During the General Motors excitement a number of stock market deals were made by transatlantic radio phone.

May Install Basins In Market Alley

Will Eliminate Pools Of Water In Alley Reeves Believes

Councilman C. H. Reeves during city council's session at the city building Monday morning advocated the installation of three catch-basins in Market alley, between South Mercer and South Mill streets, which he believes will carry off surface water. The business house proprietors will be asked to connect their drains in such a manner that water will not collect in pools in the alley.

About the most expensive thing on earth is money.

Women Pickets Are Routed By Officers

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 9—Accused by state police of having become obnoxious in their accusations against strike-breakers at Montour mine No. 10 of the Pittsburgh Coal company, more than 30 women pickets were routed today at Library.

The use of women pickets in this district was said by officials to be the result of efforts made by Mrs. Christina Dolence, militant follower of the "save the union" committee. Mrs. Dolence, in an address before the recent national conference of the group in Pittsburgh, urged approval of the use of women on the picket line.

A man doesn't reap what he sows unless he works the crop.

Business Section Of Johnsonburg Is Damaged By Fire

Estimate Loss Of Over $75,000 In Early Morning Fire At Johnsonburg, Pa.

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., April 9.—Fire of unknown origin early today destroyed three buildings in the business section of Johnsonburg, near here. The damage, at first estimated at $75,000 was expected to mount higher when merchants take stock of their losses.

Several families, scantily clad, were forced to flee in the near-zero weather as the fire attacked apartments in the upper stories of the structures. With a high wind raging, firemen managed to prevent the blaze from spreading to a row of frame buildings nearby.

The blaze started in the Frenco pool-room, a frame building, and spread to the other two buildings before the arrival of firemen. The pool-room, the Mehen grocery and the Ladies Bazaar were the business houses destroyed. The fire started about 2 a. m.

This was the third serious fire in the business districts of towns in this section within the past nine days. Kane suffered a $175,000 blaze and St. Mary's was visited by a $125,000 fire.

Legal Notices

Legal Notice.

In the Orphans' Court of Lawrence County, Pa. No. 1, March Term, 1927.

In the matter of the partition of the real estate of Mollie Harris, late of the County of Lawrence, deceased.

To: Harry Levy, Lillian Furstenberg, Yetta Barnett, of Detroit, Michigan; Lillian Lazarus, Izzy Lazarus, M. E. Lazarus, Joseph Harris, Nathan Harris, Ben Harris of Cleveland, Ohio; Claud Harris, Reta Harris, of New York, N. Y.

You will take notice that on March 12th, 1928, the petition of Mrs. Anna Levine, Mrs. Bertha Klugman and Mrs. Mamie Traub was presented to Court praying the Honorable Court to revoke the said order of Court, dated December 12th, A. D. 1927, and re-instate the bid of said Rachel Lazarus and require her to comply with her said offer and bid filed, to issue a Rule upon the said Rachel Lazarus, the said Abe Levine and all the heirs-at-law of said Mollie Harris and parties in interest, to show cause why the said order of Court dated December 12, A. D. 1927 should not be revoked, vacated and set aside and further show why the said Rachel Lazarus should not be required to fulfill and to comply with her offer and bid of Thirty-one Thousand Five hundred ($31,500.00) Dollars for the said described real estate described in said Writ of Partition and the same thereon be allotted to her.

Whereupon the Court granted a rule upon you to appear and show cause why the petition should not be allowed, returnable the first Monday of May, 1928.

Certified from the record at New Castle, Pa., this 19th day of March, A. D. 1928.

Negro Burglar Shot To Death

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 9.—An alleged burglar, John Williams, 35, negro, died in a hospital here today from bullet wounds inflicted by Arthur Adams, who told police he discovered the negro robbing his home. Adams has been ordered to appear before the coroner, but no charge will be lodged against him, police said.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 9.—The industrial stocks and the specialties pushed aggressively forward in the early trading today, promptly resuming the forward movement temporarily side-tracked by the triple holiday over Easter Sunday.

Stocks of the New York City Transit companies jumped 2 to 8 points in the first period, signifying Wall street's belief in a victory for the Interboro and Brooklyn Manhattan Transit companies in their fight for a 7-cent fare. Interboro sold today at 55, up 7½ points over the week-end and 18 points above the low of last week. Traction bonds of the same companies rose brilliantly.

Anaconda Copper jumped 4½ points to 71 on its first sale of a block of 33,000 shares.

America Smelting and other copper stocks moved forward aggressively on the firmer market for the red metal.

The metal markets reported increased buying both for home and foreign consumption, and a firmer tone was noted in the textile markets. Crude rubber slumped off nearly a cent a pound, bringing the price for all positions close to 19 cents a pound, another new low record. Call money loaned at 5¼ per cent.

The tape ran about 13 minutes behind the market in the first hour, and General Motors was currently reported selling at 194¾, while actual sales were being made in the floor of the Exchange at 196¼. Radio Corporation was kept in the background, while Schulte Stores and Anaconda Copper raced ahead under full momentum and various low-priced specialties like Kelvinator and America Zinc forged to the front. Pittsburgh and West Virginia, at the head of the "merger rails" jumped an additional 7 points to 160, where the stock sold 35 points above the low of last week.

Atlantic Refining was a good leader in the oils, though Pan American and Maryland were well bought at the best prices of the current move.

Stock sales in the first hour aggregated 1,000,000 shares.

Egg Rolling Is Order Of Day On White House Lawn

Mrs. Coolidge Absent From Annual Egg Rolling Contest For First Time

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Washington's youngsters took possession of the White House grounds today for their annual Easter Monday egg rolling.

The only grownups allowed inside the gates were those accompanying children too young to be left alone. Thousands of children participated.

At 3:30 the grounds were to be thrown open to the public for a concert by the Marine band. President Coolidge planned to appear.

For the first time since the Coolidges entered the White House, Mrs. Coolidge was not present to watch the youngsters. She is at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, in Northampton.

Dying Husband Accuses Wife Of Fatal Shooting

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 9.—With a deathbed statement that he was shot by his wife, Michael Zalencyzs, 56, died in a hospital here today from gunshot wounds.

His wife, Helen, 50, arrested by police denied the charge and declared her husband committed suicide. A revolver with four empty shells was found in the Zalencyzs home. Police said neighbors told them the woman ran of the house late yesterday after four shots had been heard and cried that her husband had attempted to kill himself.

New Jersey Man Burns To Death

Find Charred Body Of Man Beside Overturned Stove, Bungalow Destroyed

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., April 9.—Frank Evans, 30, was burned to death in his Runnemede, N. J., home near here early today when fire destroyed the bungalow. The charred body was found on the kitchen floor beside an overturned stove.

Evans' wife and three children were not at home at the time, as they have been living at the home of the wife's mother, a mile away, since the couple quarreled two weeks ago, police said.

Pennsy Railroad Asks Permission To Issue Stock

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 9—The Pennsylvania railroad today asked the interstate commerce commission for authority to issue $26,408,250 on capital stock. It will be offered to stockholders registered on April 14 at the rate of one share of new stock for each eight shares of old stock. The proceeds will be used for additions and betterments to the Pennsylvania system.

DuBois Will Have Aviation Field

(International News Service)

DUBOIS, Pa., April 9.—A lease for a 60-acre field to be used as an airport here has been signed by Frank Towers, representative of the United States department of commerce, it was announced today by C. L. Lowe, owner of the field.

DuBois is on the New York-San Francisco air-mail route. The commerce department plans to construct an airplane field here. It was reported that the field will have six runways, or "take-off": lanes.

Mrs. Lindbergh Starts Flight To Toronto, Canada

Mother Of Famous Flying Colonel To Be Ontario Educational Guest

(International News Service)

DETROIT, April 9.—Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, mother of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, took off from Ford Airport today for Tononto, Ont., to be guest of honor of the Ontario Educational Association.

Louis M. Meister, of the Buhl Aircraft Company, piloted the plane. Mrs. Lindbergh was accompanied by Miss Maude Dawson, a fellow teacher at Cass Technical high school, who was with her on her recent flight to Boston to the National Educational Association conference.

In addition to the stop at Toronto, Mrs. Lindbergh will visit Harcroft, a village near Hamilton, where she has several relatives.

Fire Damage In Ohio Village Is Set At $50,000

(International News Service)

SALEM, O., April 9.—Fire of unknown origin early today destroyed the Salona Supply Company mill at Garfield, near here, causing a loss estimated at $50,000. The loss included a two-story frame building, a garage and 30 tons of coal.

A high wind carried sparks which ignited the roof of the Pennsylvania railroad station but the blaze was extinguished with small damage.

Dr. Carnes Makes Address To Rotary

A sword blade so hard that it would shave hair and yet so flexible that the point could be sent to touch the hilt and it would return to its original position, was demonstrated to the members of the New Castle Rotary club by Dr. Stewart Carnes of the Car-Van Steel company of Canton, O., at the regular weekly meeting of the club, held at noon today in the crystal ballroom of The Castleton.

In almost all respects the sword blade demonstrated by Dr. Carnes approaches that for which the city of Damascus became famous. The doctor does not claim to have rediscovered the lost secret of Damascus steel, but he does assert that his blade will do everything which an old Damascus blade will do.

Before giving his demonstration, Dr. Carnes gave a short outline of the history of civilization as it affected the weapons of man.

Powder Blast Is Fatal To Youth

(International News Service)

BEDFORD, Pa., April 9.—Jan Coy, 14 is dead in his home at Smile Mile Run near here today from burns received in an explosion of gunpowder ignited by Coy and Jacob Ruby, 15. The gunpowder was found in the Ruby home. Ruby was burned about the face and hands.

LOCAL SCOUT LEADERS INVITED GUESTS AT PITTSBURGH MEETING

Pittsburgh Girl Scout leaders have extended an invitation to the New Castle Girl Scout Leaders and Council members to attend a dinner and Nature Study conference to take place Tuesday, April 17, at the Congress of Clubs, 408 Penn avenue.

Dr. Bertha Chapman Cady of National headquarters will be one of the speakers. Dr. Cady is the Girl Scout Naturalist having prepared publications on all phases of nature work taken in scouting.

Dinner will be held at 7:30 for those attending. The dinner for Dr. Cady will take place at 6 o'clock. Those planning to attend will please notify the secretary, Miss Elsa Ashmore by Thursday, April 12. For further information call 4485-R.

PETITION PRESENTED TO PLACE MORTGAGE

In the estate of the late Anna C. Brinton, a petition was presented in court this morning by the executors, Charles G. Martin and W. E. Porter for leave to mortgage certain real estate for the payment of debts. The petition was granted.

Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, guardian of Martha J. Barnett, was authorized to pay certain expenses, out of ward's estate.

Temperature To Start Climbing

Government Weather Bureau Says Cold Wave In Pennsylvania About Over

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 9.—Slowly rising temperature will mark the disappearance of the cold weather which has prevailed throughout western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia over Easter, the government weather bureau here announced today.

Fruit trees were not damaged by frost, the weather bureau reported, because their development had progressed far enough to withstand the drop in temperature. The lowest temperature in the Pittsburgh district, 30 degrees, was reported today, but the bureau expected a bright sun to force it upward many points before the day was done.

Three Thousand Miners Strike

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 9.—Three thousand miners, employed on the Loree division of the Hudson Coal company, went on strike today, closing five operations of the company at Plymouth and Larksville. A dispute over wages was responsible for the strike action.

Spokesmen for strikers said they would take the grievances before the general committee at a meeting in Scranton Wednesday when a demand would be made to call out the 22,000 miners, employed in all Luzerne and Lackawanna county operations of the company.

Boy Is Injured; Struck By Auto

Walter Zilirsy, aged 15 years, is confined in the New Castle hospital as the result of injuries sustained about the head when he fell from an auto today about one o'clock.

The accident happened on Moravia street.

APPLICATION MADE FOR NEW TRIAL IN AUTOMOBILE CASE

Application for a new trial was made by the defendant this morning in the case of Nellie Anthony against Charles G. and Margaret Harris. This is a case in which a verdict was secured by the plaintiff against the defendants last week as result of an automobile accident on the diamond. It is claimed in the petition for a new trial that the plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence and that the verdict was against the weight of evidence.

ARREST ELEVEN ON SUNDAY VISIT

Sunday afternoon shortly before three o'clock, Officers Campbell, Reynolds and Lynch and Detective C. G. Logan visited the place of Walter McKay, negro, 1017 Moravia street and arrested the proprietor and ten visiting men, including one white man.

This morning, when they appeared before Mayor William H. Gillespie, McKay was assessed a fine of $10 with the option of ten days in jail, while the visitors were assessed fines of $5 each. Most of the group paid but some preferred to work out their fines.

STATE DECISION IN COUNTY CASE

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 9.—Among state supreme court decisions handed down today was the following:

McCullough vs. Holland Furnace Company, appellant, Lawrence county. Judgment affirmed.

SECURE HOME BREW

When Officers Campbell and Reynolds visited the place of Tony Sish, 1206 Moravia street, Sunday, they arrested Sish, Stanley Bryan and Ignotz Smithelos.

As the the officers gained an entrance, Sish beat the officers to the cellar and destroyed a container filled with moonshine, the officers state. They did secure a considerable quantity of home brewed beer. Sish was fined $25 as the keep of a disorderly house, while the two visitors paid fines of $10 each.

PAYS STIFF FINE

Douglas Sabo, charged with disorderly conduct by reason of his actions Saturday night on Croton avenue, paid a fine of $25 when he appeared before the mayor.

A man has been found who reads a book a day. What he doesn't know is probably the only thing worth knowing.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Defense Promises Surprise Witness In Shooting Case

Mrs. Esther Wilson, Big Game Huntress Arraigned Today For Shooting Husband

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 9.—Defense counsel promised to spring a surprise girl witness today when Mrs. Esther Wilson, aristocratic huntress of African jungle beasts, will be arraigned in West Side court on a charge of twice shooting her husband ten days ago.

The wounded man, Dallett H. Wilson, fifty, wealthy lawyer, offices at No. 730 Fifth avenue, is struggling back to normal after removal of the two bullets at Reception hospital.

State Senator Quinn, attorney for the society woman, would not say who the mysterious witness might be. He did declare, however that her name has not been mentioned heretofore in connection with the case.

Governor Fisher Receives Letter Regarding Probe

Senator Watson Outlines Position Of Committee In Summoning Fisher

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 9.—Governor John S. Fisher today received a reply from Senator James E. Watson, chairman of the United States senate committee on interstate commerce, in which the latter outlined the position of his committee regarding the proposed appearance of the Pennsylvania executive before it.

The letter received today was in reply to one sent by Governor Fisher to Senator Watson on March 1. The letter outlined the governor's position in regard to his appearance before the senate committee. The governor outlined five questions on which he desired additional information before consenting to appear.

Four Hurt When Trains Collide

Four Railroad Employes Injured As Freight And Passenger Crash Head On

TRAFFIC TIED UP FOR TIME

(International News Service)

SUNBURY, Pa., April 9.—Four men were injured when a Williamsport-to-Port Clinton passenger train and a freight from Tamaqua crashed head-on on the Reading railroad tracks two miles east of this place today.

The injured are William Eisele of Williamsport and Louis Warhuess of Newberry, engineer and fireman of the passenger train, and Robert Trute and Howard Houck of Tamaqua, engineer and fireman of the freight. Railroad officials said that a mix-up in signals was the cause of the wreck.

Several passengers were badly shaken up, but none were reported injured.

The locomotives of both trains were telescoped and several cars fell to the Pennsylvania tracks a short distance below the Reading line, tying up traffic for some time.

ETTA KETT — NOTHING SNOBBISH ABOUT HER — BY PAUL ROBINSON

Mill Worker Is Found Slain At Indiana Harbor

Cousin Of Harbor Bootleg Chieftain Is Found Murdered

(International News Service)

GARY, Ind., April 9.—Indiana Harbor police today were confronted with another gangster murder—that of Joe Marovich, 27, mill worker.

Marovich's body was discovered by motorists in the "No Man's Land" near the Harbor Ship Canal. He had been shot once through the back of the head and the body, and apparently thrown from an automobile.

Marovich was not involved in underworld affairs, police believe, but he was a cousin of Nick Marovich, Harbor bootleg chieftain.

Woman Picket Is Under Arrest For Molesting Miners

Woman Picket, First Arrested Since Strike Jailed In Default Of Bail

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 9.—The first woman picket to be arrested in Pennsylvania's prolonged bituminous mine strike today began serving a 30-day jail sentence in default of a $10 fine. She was Mrs. Ethel Carffic, 47, Meadowlands, who was arrested by state police early today at the Rich Hill mine of the McClane Mining Company.

Mrs. Carffic was arrested, police said, when she refused to stop molesting non-union miners on their way to work. She was alleged to have seized one miner after being told not to lay hands on any of the men. She pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge before Alderman I. E. Goodridge, Washington.

While the use of women is not sanctioned by the United Mine Workers of America, a militant movement among the women said to be sponsored by the "save the union" committee, has been picketing mines regularly as the strike-breakers go to and from work, police said.

Women first appeared at Meadowlands this morning when fifteen were added to the usual men pickets. Troopers asserted that they paid no attention to the women until they refused to obey orders to cease shouting at and molesting the non-union men.

Prof. E. D. Fuller Dies At Wilkinsburg

Former Chorister Of St. John's Lutheran Church Of This City Passes Away

Prof. E. D. Fuller, for three years chorister of St. John's Lutheran church of this city, died at his home in Wilkinsburg, Pa., Sunday morning at 6:30, according to a message received by Rev. F. E. Stough of Winter avenue.

Prof. Fuller had been in poor health since last Christmas. Since having charge of the local choir he had made many friends who will regret to hear of his death. For a number of years Mr. Fuller had been music director of the Forest schools, near Wilkinsburg.

He is survived by two sisters at home. Private funeral services will be held Tuesday, April 10, at 1:30 from the home of his nephew, William Fuller, of Wilkinsburg.

Blind Man Burns To Death In Fire, Refuses Assistance

Younger Brother Of Blind Man Tries Valiantly To Save Victim

(International News Service)

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., April 9.—Ignoring the frantic entreaties of his younger brother who sought to drag him to safety, Milo Jackson, 31 and blind, burned to death in a fire which destroyed his home.

Jackson and his brother, Laverne, 14, were in bed when flames swept into the room. Laverne pleaded with Milo to jump from the window, about 12 feet from the ground, but the blind brother refused. Laverne tried to drag him to the window but the elder brother clung tightly to the bed.

With his clothing afire, Laverne jumped to the ground and saved himself.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

After all that beautiful weather of last week, Easter Sunday turned out to be a little touch of winter and disappointment hung heavy over those who had spring clothes.

Washington street and the annual Easter Parade was not so good as it usually is. Creations of chiffon and georgette and the other flimsy spring materials were hidden by heavy coats and the rainbow of clothes was dimmed more or less by a heavy cloud of woolen over things.

But not all of the ladies took the blasts of winter. Many of them threw caution out the door and stepped out in their finery daring pneumonia to hit them and shivering the while.

There is no work so dignified or so important that the persons engaged in it cannot afford to take a little time out for amusement or entertainment. And the Festival Chorus Singers are taking tonight for theirs.

You saw and heard the chorus no doubt in its presentation in the Scottish Rite Cathedral. All winter they labored, rehearsing the choruses, perfecting their attack and release and shading and there was little of the lighter spirit prevailed.

But the work of the winter was amply justified in a wonderful concert. Tonight dignity and pomp are being thrown for a heavy loss and the members are going to jubilate a little in the Y. W. C. A. Eats and music and mirth, with Paul Browne Patterson the director being relegated for the minute to the ranks of the merrymakers. His baton will be parked in his inside pocket and everybody's dignity will be checked in the cloakroom.

Just a few more days until Clarence Chamberlin will be here for the dinner and address planned for him by the backers of air plane advancement for New Castle. He deserves a crowd. Anybody who has the courage to pilot a plane across the Atlantic ocean almost to the gates of Berlin has something the ordinary mortal was denied and he should be well worth hearing.

A story did not come out at the time of the flight but it is known that Chamberlin and Levine nearly lost their lives ou over the ocean. Levine was at the controls and the ship went into a tail spin. Down, down it swirled gathering speed as it went. Chamberlin got the controls and after dropping 17,000 feet in a tail spin he pulled the craft out of it just about 300 feet above the waves.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today.

Governor Pennypacker asked the Legislature for good roads legislation in an effort to get Pennsylvania roads improved.

Plans were about completed for the new Masonic Temple to be erected at the corner of North street and Apple Alley. The building was to cost $50,000.00.

A mail chute 100 feet long was planned for the Lawrence Savings and Trust building, the new "skyscraper."

City Anxious To Acquire Corner

White And Moorehead Will Confer On East Side Land Deal

Councilmen instructed City Solicitor Robert M. White to confer with T. F. Moorehead of the Lehigh-Portland Cement Company relative to the proposal of the company to give the city 75 feet of ground at the intersection of Butler avenue and East Washington street.

Council, during their meeting in the city building today, indicated they are anxious to obtain the land and to round the corner, after which the part acquired will be paved.

This Lady Doesn't Object To Notice

Most persons do not care to have a card declaring contagion exists in the home, but there is one lady in New Castle who believes this practice is O. K.

Sanitary Inspector Chauncey Davis called the lady on the telephone and said: "Is the sign still up? How are the children getting along?"

"Yes, the sign is up, and I'm glad of it," the lady replied. "The children are getting along fine and do you know it keeps the other children from running into the house and it sure keeps all the agents away from the house."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Veal chili con carne is one answer to the leftover veal roast problem. The same recipe may be used for any other leftover meat you may have on hand.

Veal Chili Con Carne
Grapefruit-Orange Salad
Cocoanut Bread Pudding
Tea

Today's Recipes.

Veal Chili Con Carne—Two pounds cooked veal, three tablespoons butter, two small onions, one small can pimentos, pepper and salt, two cups meat stock, one tablespoon chili powder, two cups boiled rice. Cut veal into very small cubes. Put butter into a frying pan, add chopped onions and pimentos and fry ten minutes. Add meat, seasonings, stock and chili powder. Cover and cook slowly one-half hour. Serve garnished with rice. For chicken chili con carne substitute cooked chicken for the veal—chicken broth for the meat stock.

Cocoanut Bread Pudding—Three slices (one-fourth inch thick) stale bread or sponge cake, one tablespoon butter, three tablespoons marmalade (orange, pineapple, raspberry or apricot), one and one-half cups milk, one-fourth cup sugar, two eggs, one-fourth cup sugar, two eggs, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half cup shredded cocoanut. Spread the slices of bread with the butter and the marmalade; cut into fourths, place on the bottom of a greased shallow baking dish. They should cover the bottom of the dish but not overlap. Scald the milk; add to the sugar mixed with the eggs, salt and vanilla. Pour over the slices of bread. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees Fahrenheit) for 30 minutes. Sprinkle with cocoanut and continue baking about 15 minutes until the custard is firm and the cocoanut is brown.

Grapefruit-Orange Salad—On a bed of crisp lettuce arrange sections of orange and grapefruit. In the center of the salad put a whole nut meat or cherry. Serve with French dressing.

SCHOOLS RESUME AFTER VACATION

After the annual spring vacation which was held last week, the New Castle schools resumed this morning with few absences, according to Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent. The teaching personnel is practically 100 per cent on the job and few absences were reported in the classes of the various schools.
